Man Saved As Car Burns

The courage of a Chester sales executive and the quick thinking of his family were credited with saving the life of a Struthers, Ohio, man whose car plunged over the embankment alongside Taylor's Bend at the foot of the Route 30 hill behind Chester early this morning.

William R. Mackall, who is vice president of sales at the National Church Supply Co. in Chester, broke the glass in the door of the new Cadillac with his bare hands and pulled out Harry C. Thomas, 32, of 67 Grandview Ave., Struthers, despite the fact that the auto was on fire and danger of an explosion was imminent.

He was assisted in pulling the dazed man from the auto by his son, William T. Mackall, owner of the Allmac Printing Co.

Mackall and his son live in separate houses adjacent to the bend on Park Place, beyond Rock Springs Park. The elder Mackall's wife, Joan, is a member of the Taylor family after which the bend, the scene of many accidents, was named.

Their oldest daughter, Margaret, 18, heard the crash about 5:30 and called her parents. Mary Alice, 16, her younger sister, called the telephone operator and requested that she contact the proper authorities.

The Hancock County sheriff's department and Chester volunteer firemen responded immediately. An ambulance was sent by Arner's Funeral Home in Chester.

Thomas was taken to City Hospital and was treated for multiple facial lacerations.

Thomas apparently lost control of the auto as it descended the long downhill grade coming into the curve, Hancock deputies said.

Potters Adjourn 72nd Convention

MIAMI BEACH (Special) — The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters adjourned its 72nd annual convention about 10 a. m. today after the 205 delegates voted late Thursday afternoon to hold the 1967 sessions in San Francisco.

The city by the Golden Gate, also the site of the 1962 convention received 116 votes to 42 for Seattle and 45 for Houston.

Six other cities were mentioned as the site for next year's meeting, but none received the minimum of 25 votes necessary to get on the ballot. They included East Liverpool, Denver, New Orleans, Anchorage, Alaska, Cleveland and Atlantic City.

One delegate also "nominated" Juneau, Alaska, but he was hoisted down.

The 1965 convention was in Vancouver, B. C., the 1964 meeting at Las Vegas and the 1963 meeting at Long Beach.

VIRTUALLY all the convention's business was wound up in Thursday's session. The convention was in session only for a few minutes today, then adjourned for the final time. Delegates were drawing their travel expense allowances late this morning preparing to return to their homes in many parts of

Leek Named Principal

Jack F. Baker Resigns Top Southern Local Post

Supt. Jack F. Baker, head of the Southern Local School District for 10 years, has resigned and been replaced by Thomas Leek, currently high school principal.

At a meeting of the board of education Thursday, Baker's resignation — which referred to "concern for the district," increased responsibility and health considerations — was accepted in a 4-to-1 vote.

Baker, a native of Salineville who received his bachelor's degree at Mt. Union College and his master's degree at Kent State University, has been offered the post of supervising principal for the district, which includes the high school.

The superintendent, whose resignation is effective Aug. 1,

85 Fires Add To Disorders At Cleveland

Guards Patrol Riot Areas As Arsonists Run Wild At Night

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Armed National Guardsmen patrolled the East Side riot areas today, guarding against further violence that in four days has gone from shooting and looting to hit and run fire bombing.

Arsonists took over as vandalism and violence tapered off in the Hough Negro slum area only three miles from downtown Cleveland. More than 85 fires were started during the night, most of them ignited by gasoline-filled bottles.

At dawn, the latest unrest eased off, just as it had Thursday.

Police and 1,000 National Guardsmen patrolled the two-square-mile riot area where hysteria mounted amid wild rumors and false fire alarms. Firemen raced from one alarm to another.

"People are scared, becoming hysterical," Col. Dana Stewart of the National Guard said.

One woman phoned the Guard and said 200 Negroes had gathered across the street from her store, threatening to kill her and her husband, then burn their grocery store.

Stewart said teen-age gangs start fires and if nobody comes they loot.

"There is no mob action," Stewart said. "This makes it different from Watts and Chicago."

Sporadic shooting at night has been between snipers and patrolling officers.

Police, backed up by 2,000 Guardsmen available for duty, patrolled wide areas radiating from the slum storm center. The Hough area is sealed off. All bars have been closed by police order.

The toll in four days of violence:

- Two Negroes killed by gunfire.
- More than 30 persons injured.
- Heavy property damage from fires, window smashing and looting.

The rioting, triggered at a bar in the Hough area Monday night, has moved to the south and northeast. It stops short of white neighborhoods.

In the last two nights the violence has switched to guerrilla-type tactics — start a fire and melt quickly into neighborhood back yards and side streets.

The biggest fires Thursday

Crack Cong Division Hit By Marines

U.S. Jets Keep Up Air War With Blows At More Oil Depots

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines battled through the night against a large force from an elite North Vietnamese division in the jungles and hills nearly atop the 17th Parallel frontier. At dawn, they called in Marine planes to prevent the enemy from fleeing toward Laos.

Hard fighting pushed the probable Communist toll in the eight-day Marine drive to more than 1,000 killed, the Marine command said.

In Saigon, U.S. military headquarters said the foe was the crack North Vietnamese 324-B Division of 8,000 to 10,000 men under the command of a tough mountaineer general known to favor "human wave" assaults.

It was the first time in the war a full North Vietnamese division has been reported in action in the South as a single organized force.

Over the Communist North, U.S. jet planes kept up the unrelenting air war, attacking nine oil depots and touching off fires at seven of them, despite a heavy barrage of 19 missiles. The loss of two more planes during the raids Thursday brought the toll over the North to nine this week.

One of the pilots was rescued. The other was listed as missing.

A U.S. spokesman refused to say whether any of the Soviet-built missiles brought down either of the planes.

A task force of 7,000 U.S. Marines and 3,000 South Vietnamese troops just below the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam was attempting to block any retreat by North Viet Nam's 324-B Division.

Marine Corps planes and artillery battered a jungle-covered hill identified by a captured 15-year-old private as a North Vietnamese regimental command post. One Marine battalion moved in Thursday night, as a blocking force after a large North Vietnamese unit tried to move westward toward Laos.

U.S. officials did not dismiss the possibility that Communist withdrawal toward Laos or the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone only a mile or two away could be a possible enemy trap for the Leathernecks.

Court Rules For Crucible In Proxy Rift

In a decision hailed by Crucible Steel Co. executives "as a major victory" in the prolonged contest for control of the Pittsburgh firm, the Appellate Court of Illinois today reversed a lower court ruling which has postponed the company's April 1966 annual meeting.

The higher court opinion, issued in Chicago today, held in favor of Crucible by setting aside an earlier ruling obtained by a Chicago-based group of dissident shareholders. The Appellate Court finding will bring the steel company proxy battle to an early end by permitting Crucible shareholders to hold their adjourned annual meeting promptly.

The specialty steelmakers' chief executive, Joel Hunter, reported that he and other officers of the firm were "delighted" with the high court decision. "At last," Mr. Hunter said, "our shareholders have an opportunity to bring this contest to a close and get on with their necessary and legitimate business."

2 To Be Charged In Store Robbery

Charges were to be filed today in County Court at Lisbon against a Youngstown man and his cousin from the Wellsville area as the aftermath of the robbery of a Wellsville store Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

George Wright Jr., 21, of Youngstown and his cousin, Kenneth Wright, 25, of Wellsville R.D. were picked up about 45 minutes after the robbery of Well's Golden Crown Market at 925 Main St., according to police, and are being held in the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon.

Police said George Wright has been identified as the man who perpetrated the actual robbery. They gave this version:

He first entered the store about 1 p.m., left and then returned, picking up a pie and asking the clerk at the cash register, Miss Margaret Gates, to place it in a bag.

As she reached for the sack, Wright pointed a gun at her and declared, "This is a hold-up. Put all the bills and quarters in the sack with the pie."

Miss Gates complied. Police

Crash Hurts City Woman, 6 Youngsters

Mother, 36, 'Poor' In Salem Hospital, Infant, Girl 'Fair'

A 36-year-old city woman, injured with six of her children when her car overturned at a curve on Route 164 near Lisbon Thursday evening, was in "poor" condition today at Salem City Hospital.

Mrs. Wilma J. Keener, 351 Ogden St. and two of the youngsters — one a 5-week-old infant who was apparently thrown out of the car, the other a girl probably pinned under the auto — were hospitalized. Four other children were treated and released.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Mrs. Keener, wife of Ira Keener, a printer at The Review, was headed south about 2.7 miles south of Lisbon at 6:40 p.m. when she lost control of the 1962 coach at a curve.

The vehicle traveled some 140 feet along the road, then rolled over and landed on its top about 45 feet from the highway.

Mrs. Keener suffered a skull fracture, broken ribs and bruising.

Insanity Plea Will Be Filed In Speck Case

CHICAGO (AP) — Public Defender Gerald Getty says he will enter a plea of innocent for Richard Speck, accused of murdering eight student nurses last week in their townhouse dormitory.

"We can't plead guilty to anything as I project the defense," Getty said Thursday. "We will leave it up to the jury to decide his fate."

Getty, appointed by a Circuit Court judge to defend Speck, said he would plead the ex-con-vict not guilty by reason of insanity.

Dr. William N. Norcross, the City Jail Hospital physician, said Thursday that Speck, 24, continues to recover from wounds in an attempt at suicide and is eating well. He said he is certain Speck suffered a minor heart attack earlier this week, but that two cardiologists would examine him to determine his condition.

Bring Back 7 'Firsts' In Gemini Trip

Young, Collins End Voyage With Near-Perfect Splashdown

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 10's astronauts fly back to Cape Kennedy today to fill in the details of one of man's most remarkable space flights — an adventure that set guidelines for the moon and for military man-in-space programs.

Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and space-walker Michael Collins, an Air Force major, were to leave the helicopter carrier Guadalcanal between 9 and 9:30 a.m. EST today for a two-hour helicopter ride to the cape — where their dramatic journey began Monday.

During 70 hours, 47 minutes in space they caught and docked with one Agena satellite, used the Agena engine to dart to a record altitude of 476 miles, and rendezvoused with an old lifeless Agena.

Collins set records of his own when he made two space excursions — one a "stand-up" maneuver, the other a space walk. Although both were shortened by problems, he walked over to the "dead" Agena and retrieved a package that had been recording micrometeorite impacts for four months.

They brought back a total of seven space "firsts."

Young and Collins climaxed their brilliant flight late Thursday steering Gemini 10 to a near perfect landing in the western Atlantic Ocean about 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The spacecraft splashed down only 7.5 miles from the Guadalcanal. Less than half an hour later a helicopter deposited them on the deck of the carrier as the ship's band played "It's a Big, Wide Wonderful World."

"It's a pleasure to be here," Young told the sailors on the ship.

"Thanks for picking us up," Collins added. "Beautiful job."

Below decks, a physical examination awaited and the first of numerous sessions with technical experts who will evaluate every phase of the mission.

"They have no medical problems," reported Dr. Kenneth Beers. "They're in good shape."

He said they were so thirsty that within a short period Collins drank four colas and Young had five glasses of water.

The astronauts, both 35, will remain at Cape Kennedy until Sunday night or Monday, discussing the flight in general terms. Then they will fly to the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., for eight days of detailed briefings.

On Aug. 1, they'll hold a news conference in Houston.

Space Agency officials hailed Gemini 10 as one of the most rewarding man-in-space flights yet. Said Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight:

"The results of this flight are of considerable importance to the Apollo man-to-the-moon mission. The experience we've had in the extravehicular (space walk) and rendezvous and docking."

The Fat Ones!

Americans Throw Weight Around

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced today that most of us already know: Americans are getting fatter. Fatter than the British, the Canadians and goodness knows who else.

The Public Health Service offered no explanation. But 3,066 beated-up foreign students offer plenty. They involve American favorites such as fried chicken, pumpkin pie and ice cream.

LIVING FOR A year with American families, the teen-agers gained an over-all 16 tons. They're taking home their added pounds to 59 countries this weekend.

Almost any one of the American Field Service students from overseas will say he or she gained from 2 or 3 to 30 or 40 pounds. No one said his or her new size would hurt the American image, but few thought it would help it.

Tamara Magalotti of Forli, Italy, gained 25 pounds on "malts, ice-cream, pastries and pies. Americans eat and eat. I can't get over it."

They call Nora Champen of Piura, Peru, "Porky" now that she's added 25 pounds on pumpkin pie and other goodies. Katie

A. Ketonen of Helsinki, Finland, added 20 pounds. She blames fried chicken and ice cream.

Hiroshi Tanaka of Tokyo, gained 25 pounds on Mexican-type food and reports "it's going to be hard to explain. I plan to say 'Americans are just fatter.'"

The Public Health Service survey which adds weight to this view was made between 1959 and 1962 and covered 6,672 adults. It is the first such nationwide study by the government.

FINDINGS compared to similar British and Canadian studies showed that Americans weighed about five pounds more than the Canadians and 10 to 15 pounds more than the British.

The Americans examined were between the ages of 18 and 79. The Public Health Service said comparisons were made "without adjustments for clothing." Here are some average weights reported in its findings:

Men—146 pounds at 5 feet 2.
Women—142 pounds at 5 feet 2.
Men—168 pounds at 5 feet 8.
Women—154 pounds at 5 feet 8.
Men—190 pounds at 6 feet 1.

Ceremonies To Wind Up Echo Dell Camp Tonight

The public is invited to attend the "Ceremonial Camp Fire" tonight at 7 at Echo Dell which will conclude day camp sponsored by Kinoka Council of the Camp Fire Girls.

The theme will be "Our American Heritage." Surrounding the fire ring will be a display of American flags. The flags, made by Boy Scouts of Troop 34 of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church, will set the scene for the ceremonies.

Awards will be presented campers and certificates will be given counselors. A program will be presented by the campers and the staff.

Mrs. Rose Keuper, director, was assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Prager and Mrs. Virginia Bernstorff, senior consultants; Mrs. Bea Henderson, business manager; Mrs. Mary Irene Scott, nurse; Mrs. Jane Hagerty and Mrs. Mary Jo Appledorn, registrars; Mrs. Carol Walton, music director; Mrs. Paddy Lang and Mrs. Kay Matheny, out-post camp director, and Mrs. Harriet Faulk, Mrs. Betty Husk, Mrs. Kay Waters, Mrs. Bessie Wathey, Mrs. Muriel Crowder; Mrs. Mary Margaret Welker and Mrs. Carlotta Arrington, general staff.

Program aides were Nonny Kyle, Cynthia Stoy, Jan Williams, Debbie Arrington, Carol Corbett, Mary Carr, Francie Keuper, Gwen Wright, Shirley Fulmer, Pauline Fitzgerald, Nancy Hood, Pam Smith, Carol Volberg, Glenda Pinkerton, Debbie Gregg, Jeannie and Laura Snediker. These girls were instrumental in delivering the program "Widening Frontiers."

A "splash party" was held through the courtesy of the St. Clair Township Civil Defense Unit, which furnished hoses and water sprays.

Camp protection was provided by the Interstate Detective Agency.

Knot tying, compass reading, first aid and trail blazing were taught by Chester Harris, Bill Anderson, Jeff Scott and Gary Scott, Scouts, under the leadership of Norman Scott.

Safety Featured At Hookstown's Grange Meeting

A skit, "Mr. Safety," was presented during the meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night, with Everett Maki, master, in charge.

Taking part were Maki, John Searight, Kitty Searight and Mark Searight, Ethel Glenn and Mrs. Virginia Maki.

Mrs. Maki led group singing. A safety quiz was held. Plans are being made by youths of the Grange to attend state camps July 29-31 at Centre Hall, Pa.

A contribution of $15 was authorized for the Beaver County Pomona Grange for expenses of a bake sale to be held daily at the Hookstown Fair Aug. 24-27. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vespaziana and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elliott.

The Hancock County Farm Women's Council will present a program and display of Christmas Tea items at a meeting Aug. 4.

4-H News

A wiener roast highlighted the meeting of the G & B Blue Ribbon 4-H Club Tuesday night at the Brush Creek Grange hall. The next meeting will be Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the hall.

Worker Here Cut On Pipe

A worker cut on sewer pipe and a man injured in a fall were among area residents treated at City Hospital Thursday.

Woodrow Fletcher of 1006 Ephriam St., a kilndrawer for the American Vitrified Products Co., suffered a laceration of the arm when a piece of sewer pipe fell.

Robert Patterson of Toronto R. D. 2 received abrasions of the left forearm in a fall at home.

Richard Rudabaugh of R.D. 1, an employee of the Economy Manufacturing Co., was treated for a cut on the right hand after a large piece of steel fell.

Ersel DeLauder of 1336 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, was scratched on the arm by a cat.

In a fall in a bathtub, Oakley Delo, son of Oakley Delo of Shadyside, suffered a cut elbow.

Jeffrey Lee Cox, son of Harold Cox of Rogers R.D. 1, was treated for a bruise on the back of the head after he was struck by a stone.

Jeffrey Peterson of 420 Grove Ln., grandson of Albert Dray, suffered a cut of the right palm.

Rocco Pugliano, son of Peter Pugliano of 1260 Parshall Ave., Wellsville, received a thumb back injury of the right palm.

In a fall from a sofa, Teryl Reed, daughter of Harold Reed of 1221 Parkview Dr., Wellsville, suffered a bruised elbow.

Norman Mobley of 25th St. Heights, Wellsville, was treated for lacerations of the arm after he was shoved against an old car in a field while trying to control a steer which was loose.

Mrs. Larry Finlay of 709 Sophia St. received injuries to the left elbow and shoulder in a fall from a step ladder.

David Corak, son of Peter Corak of 1729 Maple Ave., Wellsville, suffered abrasions and bruises of the ankle when caught in bicycle spokes.

Price Increase Fails To Set Off Alarm In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The June increase in consumer prices — three-tenths of 1 per cent — set off no alarm bells in Washington, even though it contributed to the largest six-month rise in living costs since 1958.

The price climb was steeper than May's modest one-tenth of 1 per cent. But a bulge is customary in June. And the chief cause — a four-tenths of 1 per cent jump in food prices — has been the same in every June for 15 years.

The commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Arthur Ross, declined to predict for newsmen where the index will go from its present record level, 112.9 per cent of the 1957-9 average.

But other officials said the rise did not reflect the kind of overheating that would send the White House to Congress for a fire-extinguishing tax boost, despite deep official concern over soaring interest rates.

The living cost increase, reported by the Labor Department Thursday, was in line with the average of monthly increases for the first half of 1966 which totaled 1.7 per cent.

At today's prices, it takes $11.29 to buy what $10 bought in the 1957-9 base period.

Taking Out Their Spite

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, can be refreshingly outspoken. He was refreshingly outspoken this week on the foreign aid bill.

Senators are picking on the $2.4 billion bill, he explained, to take out their resentment against many things they do not like, such as prices and Viet Nam.

Another thing they do not like, of course, is the foreign aid bill, itself. Sen. Mansfield says the dislike has been building up for years.

All that has kept it from blazing into open opposition is realization that foreign aid serves purpose more sophisticated than the title suggests.

Americans have not spread their wealth near and far because of any surge of philanthropic emotion. They have spent money on foreign aid only because a succession of administrations assured them that this was the way to stop Communism.

No one ever said money would buy friends, only that it would ward off enemies.

Besides stopping Communism, foreign aid has helped the United States dispose of unwieldy surpluses of material and labor. It has kept U.S. wage earners busy. It has helped to create a subsidized foreign market for U.S. products.

Last but not least, it has been a prime palm-greaser for a generation of inept diplomats who pried open chancellery doors with U.S. millions and bought the temporary cooperation of recalcitrant ingrates with public revenue.

As to the dislike that has been building up for years, a popular vote on foreign aid probably would scuttle it 50-1. Whatever dislike is reflected in Senate sniping is only a flicker of popular dislike for Uncle Sugarism.

Press Has Rights, Too

The press is supersensitive to charges that it impairs the rights of defendants by publishing what is in the public record about their lives.

It has been hinted that in the case of the man charged with the murder of the nurses in Chicago the press impaired his rights merely by printing his record as a criminal. The information was made available by Chicago police.

This is ridiculous. The press has rights, too—rights defined in the Bill of Rights as specifically as the right of a citizen to refuse to testify against himself.

When hair-splitting legalists and theorists spout off as if they thought the only guarantee of a fair trial was to try every defendant in front of a jury, they ignore a central fact about the press.

Perish The Horrible Thought

In the weeks and months to come, if Prime Minister Wilson's harried government sticks by its formula for putting Britain on an even financial keel, the United States will have an object lesson in national self-denial.

Reduction of government spending, insistence on higher industrial productivity, tax boosts, tighter curbs on consumer credit and freeze of wages, prices and dividends constitute the formula some conservatives are prescribing for the United States.

The formula's adoption by a Labor government in Britain does not signify that British leaders of labor are in favor of them. But the people trying to stem the inflation that is taking value out of the British pound are in favor of them. They are worried about the British balance of trade.

The Wilson government has made an economic decision, not a political decision. Its economie decision will be resisted bitterly by Britons who would have preferred a political decision. These are mostly the wage earners.

British wage earners have been enjoying inflation. Or to put it precisely, Britons who recently have stepped up to higher standards of living, thanks to high wages, credit-buying and more leisure time, are enjoying inflation.

Granted that this enjoyment may not be good for the pound sterling in the money market and the pound sterling's doughty defenders in conventional economic theory, wage earners have been happy.

They do not believe in austerity, which has a way of being austere for them but not for the Britons who preach austerity but do not have to put up with it.

Any resemblance between what is happening in Britain and what many prudent advisers think should happen in the United States is purely coincidental and utterly terrifying.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

It was shocking to read that recent column by your stablemate Sylvia Porter in which she put a price of tag $172.96 on the estimated 99 hours a week work done by the "average American housewife."

Our great country has indeed come upon evil times when anyone presumes to measure the labor of love of a partner in marriage in crass dollars and cents.

Has commercialism finally reached the point where it threatens the very fabric of family life?

Sylvia, if you'll pardon such familiarity, had august authority like the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and the Bureau of Labor Statistics on her side. It does seem these two great institutions could find something better to do with their time than stir up controversy. Maybe we should all write our congressmen. Believe me, if I were a housewife I would take extreme umbrage even at the heading on Sylvia's column: "What's a Wife Worth in Cash?"

How would you like to be held up to public inspection under a heading "What's a Husband Worth in Cash?" Sylvia probably never thought of that. What is the world coming to anyway?

Some poor jerk finally makes it home on a hot afternoon after slaying dragons all day and risking his life in rush-hour traffic, and is greeted with, "Hello dear, now you can clean out the attic, basement and garage."

Supposing his hourly pay on his regular job figures out at $3 an hour. He should get time and a-half at least for work at home at $4.50 an hour. What would that do to the national economy? Eh, Twill? Eh, Sylvia?

One moment of irresponsible thoughtlessness, such as Sylvia's column, could throw the United

Purely Personal

I am a-twitter over the possibility of a congressional investigation of a U.S. Supreme Court justice's propensity for marrying women younger than he is. Is Congress getting ready to pass a law, maybe? Otherwise, why investigate?

Circumstances alter cases. I once winced at the idea of spraying poison on weeds, but now that defoliation is part of the Great Crusade in Southeast Asia I am doing my bit against noxious elements in RFD, mainly thistles.

My mental needle is stuck on the idea we may have to declare some areas of our large cities off limits to civilization and cause them to be destroyed. On second thought, isn't that what urban renewal aims to do?

Funny, isn't it, that if an American says, "Nuts!" to a demand that he surrender he's a national hero, but if a North Vietnamese says it he is a stubborn old man willing to sacrifice his countrymen for his personal aggrandizement.

The good old summertime . . . when nighttime storms send householders scurrying to secure awnings, close windows and make everything shipshape while barefoot, half awake and sopping wet from raindrops.

The lady I boob-tube with agrees with me that most TV efforts to depict trials and crimes mix us up so completely we lose the thread of the plot halfway through the show and spend the second half laughing at our own confusion.

I am fascinated by the thought that computers will condition human minds to accept mechanistic processes as a substitute for old-fashioned human contact — and that one day children will be raised in a computer environment like chickens in incubators.

Faithfully yours,

Tarring Whom?

Seamen Unsafe From Killers

By Victor Riesel

Many a hatchet murderer, sex fiend, maniac, schizoid and bone knife and ax-wielding psychotic are going to sea today.

Seafarer and maritime union leaders know who they are.

Decent seamen know them and shame not to say that many a crew fears living with the killers in close quarters in fo'c'sles and eating with them in small mess rooms.

The violent ones have the right to ship out. The government will not permit any man to be kept on the beach by the union. He cannot be expelled unless he is proven incompetent.

The National Labor Relations Board protects even those who have "psychoed."

The Coast Guard issues seamen's papers almost indiscriminately, say the union chiefs, even to those with no sailing experience.

In truth, the seamen's unions are helpless to keep the future Richard Specks out of their official ranks.

LIKE SO MANY OTHER CRIMINALS and potential killers, Speck has carried Coast Guard seagoing papers despite his record.

They have been sufficient to get him into the fo'c'sle and live and sleep within a few feet of other men.

Of all this there is gruesome evidence. Three years ago a freighter hove into a West Coast port. Its chief steward was missing.

The crew told its union leaders they know he had been cut up and hurled into the sea. They knew the wielder of the boring knife.

There was no corpse. So there was no corpus delicti.

So there was no case.

For a while the men refused to sail out again with the man they said was a maniacal murderer.

But no law could keep him ashore. No law could keep him from signing on again as a fully privileged union member.

Accustomed to the violence of the sea and sometimes the tougher strains of men who earn their living on deck and below, the seafarers are nonetheless horrified by the mass slaying of the Chicago student nurses and more so.

THEY KNEW THE WORLD would be saying, in effect, what can you expect of a sailor?

Until now the seamen's unions have been helpless to guard their ranks, which under the Taft-Hartley law must be opened to all comers.

"We are going to take this issue head on," said the grim-voiced Paul Hall, Seafarers International Union president.

"We are going to refuse to ship out the psychos who come into our hiring halls. We'll defy the law."

"We have a classic case."

"One fellow has been committed four or five times. He has a record of violence. He is a manic depressive. He has been 'psychoed' some five times. This means he has had to be taken off ship in out ports."

"But he gets up at some meeting and says

he'll go to the NLRB if we don't ship him out (permit him to sign on for a voyage).

"We are not opposed to rehabilitation. But this type of fellow can't be."

"These are the Specks of the future. You'll read about them sometime. Like the fellow who tried to cut up one of our men with a fire ax."

"This has been one of our big burdens for some time. The lawmakers have forced us to a tough situation, but we now plan to break it into the open."

"We and the National Maritime Union (NMU) are in the same boat. The government leaves us helpless."

OVER AT THE NATIONAL Maritime Union headquarters frustration and anger ran neck and neck.

There in the office of Joe Curran, they had the photo and records of Richard Speck. He went over them.

The alleged mass murderer had lied about his record, and had denied being imprisoned.

Yet on Monday, July 11, when he showed up at the Chicago hiring hall before the murders, the NMU Port Agent, Bill Neill, had to respect Speck's Coast Guard papers.

After the police arrived, it was Neill who tried to decoy Speck in. Then Neill, fearing for his family, hid them in a hotel.

As he does each night, he had mailed Speck's application to the national union headquarters here.

It was duly filed.

They could not have kept Speck from applying if they tried.

He was in Group Three — which meant that he had sailed on an American ship an Inland Steel ore boat, but not on an NMU contract ship.

Thus he had the right to go into any NMU hall.

THE NMU HAS TRIED to keep the right to police its ranks.

In its contract is a clause which says that it can keep off ships those men who have been convicted on charges of possessing and/or using narcotics, habitual drunkenness, conviction for possessing lethal weapons, vicious tendencies, immoral or indecent conduct and for disloyalty to the U.S.

This contract has no real legal force.

The government does not recognize it.

Efforts to enforce it have brought the NMU into federal court about a dozen times a year.

And the NMU loses.

So does the public. So did those kids at the Chicago nursing school.

Graham Appeal

By David Lawrence

Congress Asked To Act In Violence

Rev. Billy Graham evangelist of world renown, has appealed publicly to President Johnson—his close friend—to identify the groups inside America "who are teaching and advocating violence, training in Guerilla tactics and defying authority."

The famous Baptist minister declares that, "Incredible as it may seem, we are on the road to anarchy in some of the large cities of this country, and the symptoms are ominous and dangerous." He says that "our leaders should not ignore this threat any longer."

David Lawrence

Recently, Congress has been studying the Ku Klux Klan and is about to consider legislation dealing with "clandestine organizations." This does not go far enough. It's becoming known that some of the persons with considerable influence in the terroristic activities being carried on in the name of the "civil rights" movement in America either are Communists themselves, or are sympathetic to communism.

The Rev. Graham points out that many of the demonstrations have "the pattern of defiance of authority." He emphasizes that "they are organized and planned by a hard core of extremists who are taking advantage of just grievances by people living in the frustrations of ghettos." He adds that "the FBI and the President know who they (the extremist leaders) are and what they are up to. Now the people need to know. Congress has no more militant groups which courted violence. So far as is known, not one of the principal leaders of the civil rights groups is himself accused of being a Communist but among the different organizations are said to be top advisers with a wide knowledge of Communist tactics who are accomplishing what the Communists want — namely, to produce a state of anarchy by means of violence, as mobs are incited and collisions with the police are stimulated."

Nearly every day the newspapers are reporting hundreds of Negroes shouting either "Black Power!" or other provocative slogans, as they clash with the police. Innocent bystanders have been hurt and lives have been lost. Big riots have occurred not only in Chicago and New York but also in many other cities in nearly every section of the country, from Los Angeles to Jacksonville, and from Memphis, Tenn., to South Bend, Ind.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES, on the other hand, have the power to subpoena witnesses and to expose the inner workings of Communist and other groups. There has been a tendency in recent months to deal gently with civil rights organizations for fear of alienating votes. The theory is that Negroes themselves would resent such accusations and that this would be considered as a blanket indictment of the Negro cause.

The time has come, however, in the opinion of many observers — particularly those who agree with Rev. Graham — for the administration to initiate hearings in Congress and tell the people what is going on that has caused much of the rioting and mob violence, allegedly in support of the civil rights movement. Actually the result has been a disturbing of the peace generally and a heating up of friction between the races.

REV. GRAHAM'S APPEAL expresses the viewpoint of many citizens who have been hopeful that Congress would forget about politics, courageously tackle the problem of mob violence, and make it a crime to impair the safety of citizens anywhere in the United States by incitements to violence.

Many people are unable to traverse the city streets nowadays and go to and from their homes without being subjected to the risks and dangers of physical violence.

In these days of increased reliance on the federal government there has been a strange indifference here to the use of those powers which could be lawfully exercised to stop the wave of mobocracy that has been developing throughout the country.

ing has been extremely gratifying."

Mueller listed the rendezvous with the powerless Agena 8, left in space last March, as one major achievement. The pilots had to use mainly optical means to pull within a few inches of it.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, cited the astronauts' use of the Agena 10 fuel supply and engine to maneuver themselves through space — using the hooked-on Agena as a "freight train."

This, Gilruth said, "is a primary part of Apollo. This is the mode that's used after leaving the moon to come back to earth. 'This mission has demonstrated what we can do in extending the limits of man's flight.'"

Air Force Lt. Gen. Leighton I. Davis, director of Gemini's Defense Department operations, said the military implications of the rendezvous are "very important."

"The President has said that some day we must come to full assurance that every object in space is there for peaceful purpose," he said.

"The Air Force must have these capabilities to join with and rendezvous and inspect, if you will. And also we must have the capabilities to track and precisely determine what is going on and where things are up there. Gemini 10 has been a fine demonstration of that capability."

The Gemini spacecraft will be used as a ferry vehicle for the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory — a military machine scheduled for a 1969 launching. By using an Agena as a tanker rocket, the Gemini ferry could be used to transfer to a high-flying laboratory.

Gemini 11, scheduled for launching Sept. 7, may demonstrate this capability by shooting the astronauts, Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr., to a record altitude of more than 850 miles.

Gen. Davis said that the pinpoint Gemini 10 landing could lead to reduction of the number of Navy ships scattered around the world for recovery.

He said 300-mile-range helicopters based in strategic points might be sufficient for future recoveries.

Two unexplained problems will get special attention during the debriefings. The first is the excess fuel usage during the rendezvous and docking with the Agena 10 Monday when about twice the planned propellant was used.

The resulting shortage of fuel forced a rearrangement of the flight plan and led to an early end to Collins' space walk Wednesday. Young did not have enough fuel to hold the spacecraft steady while Collins was outside on a 50-foot lifeline.

Collins cut short his "stand-up" excursion — in which he poked his upper body into space to take pictures Tuesday — when pungent, eye-irritating chemical fumes seeped into the space suits of both astronauts.

By rerouting the suit environmental control system around a lithium-hydroxide supply, which removes carbon dioxide from the system, the problem was eliminated.

The two shortened excursions by Collins leaves space walking the only major goal of the Gemini program that has not been completely fulfilled.

Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II pioneered the field for American astronauts with a 21-minute walk last year. Because of problems, scheduled walks on Gemini 6 and Gemini 8 were canceled.

Gemini 9 astronaut Eugene A.

Cernan, a Navy commander, expressed relief when Collins and Young were safely back to earth. "He looked just great," exclaimed Patricia Collins, after viewing the landing and recovery on television.

Collins was outside about 30 minutes, only half the time scheduled. He demonstrated use of a gas gun for propulsion and the ability to work around another satellite. But he did not have time to practice maneuvers on the end of a tether, a problem that plagued both White and Cernan.

Officials said other Gemini goals — rendezvous, docking and long-duration flight up to 14 days — have been demonstrated satisfactorily in the eight manned shots.

Two Gemini shots remain. In November, NASA plans to launch the first three-man Apollo moonship into earth orbit, the first of a series of launchings aimed at a manned lunar landing in 1968 or 1969.

The wives of the astronauts

The new mileage record was set last year by America's airlines in cargo handling. Combined ton miles — airfreight, airmail and air express — exceeded 2.25-billion.

Aircraft capable of carrying 500 to 1,000 passengers and supersonic planes flying three times the speed of sound are expected to be developed for general use by airlines within this decade.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I made the cutest beach poncho from two large terrycloth bath towels . . . and without sewing a stitch!

I used four diaper pins, two at the top (making the shoulders), and one midway down each side.

Sure, the diaper pins show—I bought them because they are large and would be eye-catching.

When the poncho needs washing, I just take the pins out and wash the towels. They dry in half the time it would take if they were sewn together! Besides—I can use the towels, as towels, when needed.

SANDY

Dear Heloise: It is much easier to PULL your baby's car through sand, than to push it!

R.

Dear Heloise: To clean fingernails, after a gardening or paint job, make a soap and water solution.

Add an equal amount of regular 3 per cent peroxide, and use this to soak your fingernails.

There is no odor from peroxide, as in regular household bleach which we ordinarily use for this purpose.

V.D.

And, it's easier on the hands, too.

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: I read the letter from the girl who recommended using the bowls of plastic spoons to protect the eyes while sunbathing.

I have found that if you use two swabs of damp cotton for that purpose, it not only gives your eyes a cool feeling (especially in that hot sun), but it won't blow away if there's a breeze, as light-weight plastic tends to do.

SUNBATHER.

Dear Heloise: I collect my grass cuttings in a plastic bag and spread them around my flowers and vegetables, etc., as a mulch.

These green cuttings become part of the background when tucked around the base of flowers, vegetables and evergreens.

The results are rewarding for it keeps the moisture where it is needed—in the ground—less watering is required.

ANOTHER GARDENER.

Dear Heloise: Please settle this argument, since so many of are on diets.

How many calories are in a slice of watermelon? It's not in any of our diet books.

FATTY.

My research shows that a slice of watermelon contains only 45 calories! It's about 92 per cent water, and is a good thirst quencher.

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: If you paint stacked heels with clear nail polish when they are new, they will not get old-looking nearly so soon.

MRS. J. A. TARTON.

Dear Heloise: I have a hint for owners of window fans . . . when high temperature leaves no room in the house comfortable.

Take a medium-sized bowl (or low pan), three-fourths full of ice cubes, place it in front of the fan and set the control to blow "in."

You'll find that this will make a definite difference in the temperature and your comfort.

Be sure to allow enough room in the bowl or pan so that the melting ice cubes will not overflow.

$400,000 Presented USO From Campaign

NEW YORK — A check for $400,000 from the Maxwell House Division of the General Foods Corp. has been presented to the United Service Organizations, Inc.

The contribution represented the participation of supermarkets and millions of American shoppers across the nation in the "Flip Your Lid for the USO" campaign, which was jointly sponsored by the Maxwell House Division and the USO.

The check was presented to the USO's president, Gen. Emmett O'Donnell Jr., retired, by Arthur E. Larkin Jr., executive vice president of General Foods.

Three Resign Posts With Akron 'Action'

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Executive Director Lois C. Schere and two other top officials of the Summit County-Greater Akron Community Action Council have resigned.

Mrs. Schere's resignation from her $13,000-a-year job is effective Aug. 24.

Reasons were not given in Thursday's announcement by the CAC board but rumors recently circulated among representatives of Neighborhood Opportunity Centers said there was a lack of confidence in some officials.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean playing cards?
A. — The plastic type of cards, of course, need only a wiping over with a damp cloth. To clean the paper variety of cards, wipe them carefully with a bit of cotton moistened with spirits of ammonia, then dry with another piece of dry cotton.

Q. — How can I fill in small, deep nail holes in some of my plastered walls?
A. — One simple way of doing this is to mix up a little talcum powder or cornstarch with a few drops of water, force this into the holes, then smooth it off with your finger around the edges.

Q. — How can I help to brighten up a black rayon garment that's beginning to show dull-looking areas?
A. — Try rubbing over it very, very lightly with mineral oil.

Q. — How can I rewhiten ivory knife handles?
A. — Try rubbing over these handles with half-lemon that has been dipped into salt.

BABY'S WEIGHT

Q. How much does the average baby gain during the last two months before birth?
A. The average unborn infant weighs something less than two pounds at six months. From then on the weight gain is quite steady, with a slight leveling off two to three weeks before delivery. The amount of weight gained during the last two months would vary, of course, depending upon the final birth weight.

EXERCISE AND HEART DISEASE

Q. Is it true that people who exercise regularly (golf, tennis, swimming, etc.) are less likely to develop heart disease than sit-at-homes?
A. Many scientists are not convinced that increased physical activity will prevent or otherwise alter the occurrence of "heart disease" generally. Various studies have shown, however, that coronary heart disease tends to be less deadly and less severe in persons who, on or off the job, are more active physically than their more sedentary colleagues.

Ballot Bids Requested

New Special Issues Filed For November's Election

Four more special questions and issues have been filed with the County Election Board for ballot spots at the Nov. 8 general election.

Two of the propositions were entered by Knox Township. The trustees filed resolutions asking a vote on an additional 1 - mill levy to provide funds for police protection and renewal of a 1.7-mill levy to raise money for "reconstruction, resurfacing and repair" of the township roads.

A MAJORITY vote would be required to enact each issue. The police levy would be in effect four years and the road levy would run three years.

The Columbiana Exempted Village School District filed a resolution asking a vote on an $800,000 bond issue that would be amortized over 23 years.

The funds would be used for constructing additions to the South Side and Dixon Elementary Schools, enlarging, renovating and improving the High School, furnishing and equipping school buildings and improving school sites.

A levy of 2.78 mills would be required to retire the bond issue over its 23 - year life. The levy would be equivalent to 27.8 cents on each $100 of property valuation. A majority vote would be required to enact the issue.

Southern Local School District asked a ballot place for a new 4.5-mill levy to provide funds for current expenses. Also requiring a majority vote, it would be in effect five years.

The latest filings bring to 23 the number of special questions and issues already filed or anticipated for the November ballot. As many as a dozen more may be entered before the deadline, as the Election Board generally lists about 35 special issues for a general election.

Meanwhile, the board has issued specifications to job printers, seeking bids on its ballot requirements for November. The bids will be received until 2:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 8.

The board expects to act on the ballot bids at a meeting Aug. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at its office on W. 6th St.

AT THE SAME time it will pass on the sufficiency of nominating petitions filed for the office of County Court judge. The filing deadline for the judicial offices falls the previous day, Aug. 10.

At its Aug. 11 meeting, the board also will conduct the public hearing required by law on its proposal to create a second voting precinct in Washington Township. The township now has only one precinct. The proposed new voting area will be known as the Highlandtown Precinct, comprising the eastern half of the township.

The Washington Township Precinct will be comprised of the western half of the township, minus the incorporated area of Salineville village.

State law requires the board to conduct a public hearing to listen to voters' "remonstrances" before the establishment of a new precinct. The hearings are a matter of form, as they virtually never attract voter comment.

Box With Auto Parts Found In Lisbon Area

LISBON — A large carton containing new accessories for automobiles was found Thursday afternoon on a hillside dump along the old Steubenville Rd. south of here.

The corrugated paper box contained 20 sun visors and 10 front emblem strips for Chevrolet cars.

Village police and the sheriff's department are investigating.

Use the good parts of worn overalls to make a clothespin bag that is sturdy and long-lasting.

Action Group Picks Woman In Filling Post

LISBON — The Community Action Committee of Columbiana County, Inc., Thursday night employed Mrs. Eleanor Humphrey of Kensington as clerk - bookkeeper in the CAC office here.

She will begin work Monday at $400 per month. The office in the County Welfare Department Building has Miss Catherine Franzetta of East Liverpool as manager, Vicki Coburn of Columbiana, secretary, and Mildred Hoppel of East Liverpool and Lida Jean Smith of Wellsville, survey workers.

Fred Simmen of East Liverpool, chairman, presided for the committee meeting in Village Hall.

Mrs. Helen Welch of Wellsville, vice chairman, reported on a trip to Chicago last month to obtain Neighborhood Youth Corps emergency funds for several county projects. She also reported on work being done by NYC workers in Wellsville.

Miss Franzetta reported on her attendance at the Community Action program directors management development program last week at Columbus.

She said the training dealt primarily with office management and administration.

The committee is preparing plans for the annual general meeting at which officers will be elected. The date has not been set. The committee's next meeting will be Thursday, Aug. 18, in Village Hall.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Jack Sternbach, University of Wisconsin sociologist, says American working class men are too often portrayed by movie actors "who sweep women off their feet, torn undershirts and all."

In fact, said Prof. Sternbach at a seminar Thursday, working class men are "lousy lovers" because they are insensitive to their wives' feelings and "live essentially outside the home with their buddies."

However, they are honest, he said.

"The middle class man tends to lie and boast of his achievements. In the working class no one has any illusions."

LONDON (AP) — Marion Hart, 74, of Washington, D.C., says she just flew the Atlantic solo for fun.

In London Thursday, Mrs. Hart, who nestled her single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza Wednesday among the giant jets at London airport said: "I was not thinking of setting any records. I was all set to come on a holiday accompanied by a woman friend. When she couldn't make it, I saw no good reason to sit at home."

Mrs. Hart said she first flew the Atlantic with a woman copilot in 1953.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Tom Conway, 61, star of the "Falcon" film series, is reported out of a coma, although still in serious condition with a liver ailment.

Conway, brother of actor George Sanders, has been a patient at John Wesley County Hospital in Los Angeles since April.

Conway once estimated he made nearly $1 million in 280 film, radio and television appearances, but he was found destitute in a waterfront hotel last September.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — "A Mars landing by 1985 is within our grasp," says Dr. Werner Von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville.

A trip to Mars is the next logical step after the United States lands astronauts on the moon, he told the Alabama Bar Association Thursday.

Drivers Warned

Pennsylvania Launches New 'Point' Plan Sunday

Pennsylvania's new point system for driving violations will go into effect Sunday in a move to put chronic road offenders under closer control and bring improved traffic safety.

Area drivers have been urged by police and state Bureau of Traffic Safety officials to acquaint themselves with the new system and how it works.

When a motorist has been convicted of a traffic offense and the notice of the conviction is sent to the Bureau, an assigned number of points—depending on the seriousness of the offense—is placed on his record.

Should a driver get 11 or more points on his record, his driving license will be suspended — for 60 days the first time, for 90 days the second time and 120 days to a year for subsequent times.

Points range from three for failure to give signals or improper turning, to four for certain speed violations, five for reckless driving and six for passing on a hillcrest, excessive speeding or passing a school bus.

IF A DRIVER is convicted on a three - point charge, he is notified by mail as a warning.

The first time a driver gets six points, he will have to undergo a special examination or attend a driver improvement school or go to a clinic—or any combination of these penalties as directed by the Secretary of Revenue.

Failure to comply will mean adding five additional points to the motorist's record with suspension of license for two months.

The second time a driver gets six points, he will have to undergo a special exam and may again have to go to a school or clinic. Should he not comply, again five points will be added and a three-months suspension ordered.

If a driver gets six points a third time, he will be summoned for an interview with the Secretary of Revenue or his representative, his record reviewed and appropriate action taken.

Points on drivers records will be removed at the rate of two for each year in which the drivers are not convicted of a violation.

SHOULD A driver be convicted of two or more offenses on one occasion, points will be assessed only for the offense with the largest number of points.

A driver holding a Pennsylvania license and convicted in another state for an offense similar to any on the Pennsylvania books may be assigned points on the same basis as if the offense occurred in Pennsylvania.

Any driver having an accident for which he is at fault, or partly so, may be ordered to take an examination or go to a driver school. Failure to comply can add five points to the record and a license suspension.

Completion of a driver improvement school will reduce the motorist's record by one point the first time he attends the school.

Certain convictions will still require mandatory suspension of a driver's license and do not come under the point system.

These include drinking while drunk or under the influence of drugs, failure to stop after an accident, driving while under suspension or using a car to commit a felony.

5 Youths Due Eagle Honors In Industry

Three brothers and two other youths from Industry are scheduled to receive the coveted Eagle Award, highest honor in Boy Scouting.

The youths include David Little, 17, John Little, 16, W. Thornington Little, 13, Dean Eshenbaugh, 15 and Robert Benek, 15.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Little of Pine Grove Rd. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Eshenbaugh of Upland Dr. and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Benek of Avondale Dr.

The award will be presented during a Court of Honor to be held in the future by the Allegheny Council of Boy Scouts.

The Little brothers have each been in scouting since the age of 11. John and David are counselors at Camp Tionesta and are members of the high school football team. Thornington is a member of the Industry Pony League.

They attended the Ohio View Lutheran Church, and are students at Western Beaver High School.

Dean Eshenbaugh has been a Scout for five years. He is a member of the high school band and yearbook staff and is a troop leader. He attends the Ohio View Lutheran Church and is a junior at Western Beaver High School.

Robert Benek has been a Scout for three years. He is a member of the high school golf league and serves as assistant to Robert Safford, head of the Industry Webelos Den. He is a member of the St. Christine Catholic Church and is a sophomore at Western Beaver High School.

The boys are at Camp Tionesta this week with Scoutmaster Richard Herter, who directed them in all Scout activities.

11 Loan Applications Filed In Flood Area

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Floods that hit the Sandusky area have brought only 11 applications for loans from the Small Business Administration, the local SBA office reported.

All of the 11 came from homeowners and none from operators of business places, the office said Thursday.

Displays Are Set At Stone House

LISBON — Gamma Nu Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, will furnish hostesses for visiting hours this weekend at the Old Stone House — the Lisbon Historical Society's museum on E. Washington St., one block south of the Square.

A display of teapots and pitchers is being featured this month. Hours are 7 to 9 p.m. today and 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. There is no charge.

Society members call attention to a colored photograph of an 1883 oil painting of the covered bridge which spanned Beaver Creek at the west edge of town from 1863 until replaced in 1883 by an iron bridge at a higher level. This is the site of the U. S. Route 30 bridge, or the "Canton Bridge," as it is known locally.

Members say the original picture, owned by Mrs. W. B. Moore Sr. of Lisbon, may have been painted from a photograph which is the property of the society.

The Good Image

Gangs Move To Side Of Law

CHICAGO (AP) — "We had a bad image. This is our chance to change that image."

With those softly spoken words from a 21-year-old gang leader, two feuding Negro gangs declared a truce and said they have moved to the side of the law.

One leader said he might want to become a policeman.

The gangs appeared with Police Supt. O.W. Wilson at a news conference Thursday after a closed meeting, which the gangs had requested.

Wilson said leaders of the South Side Blackstone Rangers and the East Side Disciples "have pledged themselves to their city and they don't want it damaged or destroyed."

The gangs were not involved in the West Side riots last week.

Wilson gave credit for the transformation to Cmdr. William Griffin. He said Griffin, a Negro, turned the gangs from warring to the side of the law in a little more than a month.

Griffin said he got the leaders to agree to a truce, a truce that was to have ended two weeks ago. But it's still being observed.

Why have the gangs, each claiming more than 1,000 members, decided to call off their dispute?

Lamar Bell, 21, spokesman for the Rangers, said: "Sooner or later someone is going to get killed. We had a bad image. This is our chance to change that image."

The leader of the Disciples, Ninjo Shead, 18, said: "Warfare only hurts our neighborhood. We have to live there. With a truce, we will be able to go to and from school without fighting all the way."

Wilson hailed the action, saying "we are delighted to have them in our corner."

When asked if the truce will have any quieting effect on the riot-torn West Side, Wilson replied, "time will only tell."

Shead, a high school junior, expressed a desire to perhaps join the police force cadet training program after finishing school.

The police superintendent leaned back and smiled.

Judge Fines Area Couple

An East Palestine husband and wife were fined $25 and costs each on speeding charges Thursday by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine. Sixteen other motorists were penalized.

Mary Catherine Blum and Raymond A. Blum of 53 Rebecca St., East Palestine, were fined $25 and costs each and given a 30-day license suspension for speeding in separate autos. He was granted permission to drive to work.

Others fined were James R. Roslund of Park Blvd., who pleaded not guilty to driving left of center at a hearing June 23, $5 and costs; Ronald Conrad of 1623 St. George St., $35 and costs for speeding — 85 miles an hour in a 55 mile zone.

Gerald Lee Savors of 805 Alton St., $5 and costs for failure to display two headlights; Edward K. Goodman of East Liverpool and Wilman H. Bender of New Waterford R.D. 1, $5 and costs for driving left of center.

Lionie A. Adkins of 1848 Michigan Ave., $25 and costs for failure to file for registration; Harry M. Hill of East Palestine R.D. 1 $5 and costs for ignoring a stop sign.

Harp Hutter of East Palestine, $5 and costs for faulty brakes; James Friez of New Waterford, $10 and costs for speeding and $10 and costs for use of a farm vehicle for commercial purposes.

Clarence R. Barber of Salineville R.D. 3, $5 and costs for failure to stop at an intersection; Harry E. Fife of Silliman St., New Waterford, $5 and costs for parking on a highway in front of a drive; Harold Fox of East Palestine R.D. 1, $5 and costs for an unsafe vehicle.

Forfeiting bonds were Eric Hoffrichter of 3165 St. Clair Ave. and Roger Wise of 1044 Michigan Ave., $15 for illegal parking.

Keep In Trim

Balance Diet With Exercise For Best Results

The dieter who slights exercise usually regrets it, for she too often winds up with almost faults but with less weight.

One young lady laments: "I used to weigh 181 pounds and now weigh 150, for 5 feet 7. This sounds better than it looks. Even though I have lost 31 pounds, but not exercising, I am still out of shape. I need to slim 4 to 5 inches off my waist and also off my hips. Will isometrics fix my figure? I imagine there are many girls who need these special exercises, so won't you do a column about it?"

With pleasure. It is abundantly clear that more exercise is the answer for shapely weight. Activities that use the big muscles of the body promote physical fitness and step up calorie burning.

Ida Jean Kain

ISOMETRICS are dubbed the lazy man's exercise for they take so little time and effort. Such a routine helps to increase the strength of the muscles used, which is all to the good. But isometrics alone do not provide enough exercise to keep you physically fit and feeling fine. Also, since little effort is exerted, few calories are burned.

A well-rounded exercise program would be to engage in an exercise activity two or three times a week — ride a bike for 30 minutes, swim, walk, bowl, play golf, dance. Choose activities you enjoy. Have fun steam-rolling.

Calisthenics combined with isometrics are great for toning the figure controlling muscles.

Try this trio, and do it for 10 or 15 minutes daily.

Position: Standing, feet slightly apart, arc arms overhead. Action: Reach up with right arm, centering up — pull through the mid-section. Reach up with left arm, again pulling slim through the middle. At the end of the stretch, hold for a slow count of six. Keep "climbing" 12 to 20 times. You'll even feel slimmer.

From the same position, feet well apart. Stretch up with left hand, hold the stretch as you bend to the right side as far as comfortable. At the end of the stretch — bend, h-o-l-d, for a slow count of 6 to 8... no longer. Repeat, 5 times. Then repeat, bending to the right and holding the contraction. Do not let hips bow out at sides.

TO SLIM and firm hip muscles — swing. You can swing from a lying down position, or from a standing posture. To be effective, the swing rearward must be past a 45 degree angle. Swing and hold the contraction. Holding is toning.

You'll see noticeable results in a few short weeks.

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for "Isometric Exercises" and "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

$100 Penalty Given Driver

Tom Wilkins, 51, of 1054 Avondale St. was fined $100 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

The judge heard testimony from Patrolman Dwight Garvey, who said he cited Wilkins about 2:32 a. m. Thursday while the defendant was seated in his auto on the Community Parking Lot with the motor running, the headlights burning and the gears engaged.

Wilkins' arrest was linked to a case yesterday in which George Clutter of Fairview St. was fined and jailed on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and operating a motor vehicle without a permit.

The officer said he trailed Clutter onto the lot and the Fairview St. man then halted his own car, got into Wilkins' car and said: "Let's go; let's go."

Meanwhile, the judge convicted Darrell Leak, 24, of 1723 Cleveland Ave. on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on the River Rd. Wednesday at 5:02 p. m.

Leak pleaded not guilty, but was convicted on the testimony of Patrolman Karl W. Samples. The officer said he was in a halted cruiser at the Broadway wharf when he saw Leak and another motorist head up the River Rd. at a high rate of speed. He said he clocked the vehicles at 45 miles an hour.

The other cited driver is a youth who has been referred to Juvenile Court, the patrolman said.

Leak admitted driving at least 40 miles an hour. He said he was seeking to get clear of the other auto, which was following him closely. He said he thought the other vehicle was a "hot rod" and "I tried to get away from him, but there wasn't any place I could pull off the road."

New Officers Selected For Heart Branch

New officers were announced today for the Columbiana County Heart Branch of the Heart Association of Eastern Ohio.

They are: Twing Hiseox of Salem, chairman of the board; Dr. Peter Cibula of Lisbon, president; Dr. Fraser Jackson of East Liverpool, vice president; G. Alan Hill of East Palestine, vice president; Mrs. Marie G. Durand of Salem, secretary, and Mrs. Clarence Wetzel of Lisbon, treasurer.

The county heart branch field representative is Mrs. Margaret Violand, registered nurse, who maintains offices at 43 N. Park Ave. in Lisbon.

Currently heart associations throughout the country are emphasizing the reduction of "Risk Factors" which lead to heart attacks and strokes. Booklets explaining the various heart and blood vessel diseases are available free of charge at the county heart office.

Films and speakers are available for clubs and organization programs. Arrangements can be made by calling Lisbon (424-5454) or the main office in Youngstown (788-9621).

More than six million persons visit the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art each year.

Cook large turkeys and roasts, then freeze a portion of the cooked meat for later use. Remove stuffing from turkey and freeze separately. To freeze gravy, use a plastic container. White and dark meat of a turkey can be divided and labeled.

'Limited-Income' Families Reminded On Home Loans

Limited-income rural families in Hancock, Brooke, Marshall and Ohio counties in West Virginia "stand a better chance of moving into new or improved housing due to the expanded real estate loan program of the federal government's Home Administration," according to Boyd M. Turner Jr., who directs the program in the four-county area.

Turner says expanded funds are made possible through a new program in which private lenders advance funds needed to finance housing construction. Under this insured loan program, the federal government guarantees repayment of these funds.

"This expanded rural housing loan program," Turner continued, "is proving to be a major step toward giving rural people equality of opportunity to have a decent home."

Turner said that families with weekly take home pay as small as $45 can now obtain loans to improve their housing through construction of a new home, purchase of a previously-occupied home or repair or remodeling of present dwellings.

Under the new insured program, housing loans can be made to families, with modest incomes who are unable to get credit elsewhere, at 4 per cent interest with up to 33 years to repay.

Additional information about the insured housing loan program is available at the federal office building, 324 7th St., Moundsville.

Police Probe Death Report

Pennsylvania State Police were investigating the death of a 33-year-old Beaver County man who was found in his car at home this morning.

Officers at the Chippewa Barracks said Mrs. Arlene Humphrey of Georgetown Rd. near Blackhawk reported to the post that her husband, Kenneth, was slumped over the steering wheel of the vehicle with the motor running.

Officers said Mrs. Humphrey was driven to the barracks by a woman friend.

The Beaver County coroner was notified.

Local Motorist Cited After Head-On Crash

An East Liverpool man was cited following a head-on auto accident at 1:08 a.m. today in Beaver County.

Frederick T. Waggle of Sugar St. was charged with a stop sign violation after the crash in Center Township.

Police said he went through the sign at the intersection of Marshall and Broadhead Rds., colliding head-on with a car operated by Robert E. Pratte of New Brighton R.D. 2.

No one was injured.

Ronald Lee, 5 weeks old, was in "fair" condition with abrasions of the face and arm received when he was apparently hurled from the car by the impact and Nancy Ellen, 5, was in "fair" condition with abrasions of the chest, fractures of the leg and collarbone. Her leg may have been caught beneath the vehicle, officers indicated.

Treated and released were Carol Ann, 12, minor injuries of the left leg; Cynthia Marie, 9, a cut on the right hand; Larry Allen, 6, a cut on the cheek; and Barbara Lynn, 8, bruises.

The mishap demolished the auto, according to officers, who said the accident is still under investigation.

No one was hurt in a collision between an auto and a tractor-drawn hay rake on the Clark-Son-Fredericktown Rd. late yesterday morning.

Jack W. Humphreys, 36, of the Cannons Mills Rd., driving a 1962 sedan, came over a hill crest and struck the left rear of the hay rake being pulled by a tractor operated by Walter Johnson, 51, of Negley R.D. 1.

The patrol is continuing its investigation of a hit-skip mishap on the Route 30 ramp approach leading north to Route 170 from the Freeway at 9 p.m.

Marco F. King Sr., 71, of R.D. 2 said he was headed north in a 1962 auto when another north-bound auto — a convertible with Pennsylvania license — side-swiped his car, but did not halt.

New Street Sweeper Slated For Trial Runs

Trial runs will be arranged soon for the new street sweeper delivered to the city Monday by the Allied Highway Equipment Co. of North Canton. Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

Factory representatives are due here today to put the final touches on the $12,920 piece of equipment and get it ready for operation. The mayor said he expects to witness the trial runs.

The mayor and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodyre, comprising the Board of Control, awarded the contract for the sweeper in late May. The mayor said regular sweeping schedules will be announced after the operator is familiar with the machine and officials have some idea how much territory it will be able to cover in an eight-hour shift.

Indiana Driver Hurt When Rig Jackknifes

An Indiana trucker was injured when his rig jackknifed at the intersection of Routes 51 and 204 near East Palestine Thursday at 6:50 p. m., according to the Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa.

Officers said Jerry L. Cripe, 22, of Goshen, Ind., the driver, was headed south on Rt. 51 in Darlington Township when he applied his brakes to avoid striking a car in front of him.

The rig jackknifed, with the trailer coming around and hitting the cab. The rig then came to rest across the medial strip in the highway.

Damage was estimated at $2,000. Cripe was taken to Providence Hospital, Beaver Falls, with a shoulder injury.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Ways Offered To Combat Profanity

Parents who don't themselves utter words of obscenity or profanity are distressed when they hear their children utter them. Even most other parents may, for cultural reasons, try to keep these words out of their children's everyday vocabulary. It is obvious, of course, that Dr. Garry Myers when children often hear vulgar expressions they will incline to imitate them. While parents and other adults in the family may guard their own speech in the children's presence, these children sooner or later will hear dirty words and swearing words from other children, even from some other adults.

At various times in this column I have suggested that when a tot 3, 4 or 5 utters such undesirable words in our hearing we may do well merely to ignore the matter or say quietly, "That is a word we don't say." Now I believe there are times when this procedure might not be sufficient. Recently a mother wrote from Michigan:

"OUR DAUGHTER, 3, has picked up a very terrible word and most embarrassing. More than two weeks ago we had a beautiful day when all the children could be out playing. We got the sad news at the supper table that night. We have ignored it from the beginning in hopes she would forget it. She's not about to forget.

"Tonight she used it four times in 10 minutes. I am not letting her play with those children. In fact, I'm afraid to let her play with any children for fear she will say it. She has said it to her little brother who is just beginning to talk.

"We have also stopped taking her to church. I know there is no fast way to make her forget it completely but perhaps you have some pointers we could apply."

In part here is how I answered this mother by letter:

As you are so mortified at hearing that ugly word from your little daughter who has continued using it after you have ignored it, I advise that in private you tell her clearly not to say it again and that when you hear her say it you will turn her over your knee and smack her soundly.

KEEP YOUR word, no matter who else may be present. Instead of keeping her away from other children, have some responsible person within her hearing when she is with them. This person should do as you would do when the little girl said this word.

As she grows older and mingles more widely with other children, she might take on some other ugly words while with them only. But in the meantime she will have learned what is acceptable speech, especially if she grows more happy in your presence.

Many mothers naturally are worried over the ugly words their children of elementary school age pick up. When such are used in the parents' presence these parents should strictly say, "Don't let us hear you say that again," and tell their child that his repeated utterance of such will be dealt with severely.

THERE IS no use to command a child to avoid such words out of your hearing. Hope that he won't or rarely will and that he will sense a wholesome standard you have set for him.

Having proceeded in such fashion, you parents will need to guard your own speech very carefully. However, being a refined cultivated person yourself you may not find this hard to do.

Drake Will Address Forests, Parks Unit

LISBON — Ralph Drake of Highlandtown, Ohio Division of Wildlife representative in Columbiana County, will speak at the meeting of the County Forests and Parks Council next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the Williamsport Church at Beaver Creek State Park.

He will report on plans for the wildlife area adjacent to the recently completed Highlandtown Dam, the division's program on wildlife and his work as county game protector.

President Donald Elliott of Rogers will be in charge. The Williamsport Church is just east of Route 7, one mile north of Beaver Local School.

Columbus Is Visited By King Faisal's Son

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A son of Saudi Arabia's King Faisal who recently visited the United States is in Ohio for a visit of his own.

Prince Turki Faisal, 24, arrived Thursday as guest of the Ohio Collegiate Association on World Affairs.

He plans to tour Columbus, neighboring Reynoldsburg for a first-hand look at American suburban life and Washington Court House for a visit with a musical group, the Cavaliers, who played at a recent reception at the Saudi Arabian Embassy in Washington.

Most of this activity is planned for Saturday.

Highway Patrolman Takes His Own Life

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Suicide has been ruled in the death of Lt. Carlton C. Williams, 42, assistant commander of the Ohio Highway Patrol's District 3.

Williams, a 19-year-veteran of the patrol, died Thursday of a self-inflicted bullet wound, the coroner said. Williams lived in nearby Massillon.

Farmer Convicted For Huge Ohio Still

CLEVELAND (AP)—A probation report has been ordered for an Ashland County farmer convicted of owning the largest moonshine still ever seized in northern Ohio.

Clarence L. Young, 48, of near Nova, Ohio, was convicted in U.S. District Court here Thursday on charges of having a 275-gallon still and 19½ gallons of illicit liquor. Federal agents arrested Young in a raid on his 70-acre farm last Feb. 28. He is free on $10,000 bond.

Girl Killed By Bullet When Brother Falls

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—An accidentally inflicted gunshot wound has claimed the life of Margaret Jenkins, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Jenkins of Newbury Township.

Authorities said the girl's 16-year-old brother was shooting at woodchucks Thursday when he fell from a ladder and his gun went off, the bullet striking his sister below the ear.

French Explorer Tackles Death Valley's Bitter Heat

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Only three pairs of socks and sneaker soles separate a French explorer from ground temperatures as high as 190 degrees as he attempts to hike the length of this national monument.

Park officials offer best wishes, but no help if he disappears. Jean Pierre Marquant, 28, who once spent 103 days hiking over 1,000 miles of Algerian desert, is the first person officials know of deliberately attempting a crossing of Death Valley in summer.

He started the 100-mile trek at sundown Wednesday wearing a 10-gallon hat, three T-shirts, gloves, short pants, three pairs of socks and tennis shoes. Marquant also has blue-tinted glasses and a large umbrella.

Death Valley literally is the hottest spot on earth. Officials say average temperatures in July run from 100 to 130 degrees in the shade, with ground surface temperatures as high as 190 degrees.

Because of this heat, a ground search party will not be sent to look for Marquant if he should fail to turn up at a checkpoint.

"It would be impossible in this heat," Chief Ranger Homer Leach told the former French paratrooper.

"The only help we can offer is to place a call to Edwards or George Air Force Bases and request a helicopter fly the area to try to spot you," he added.

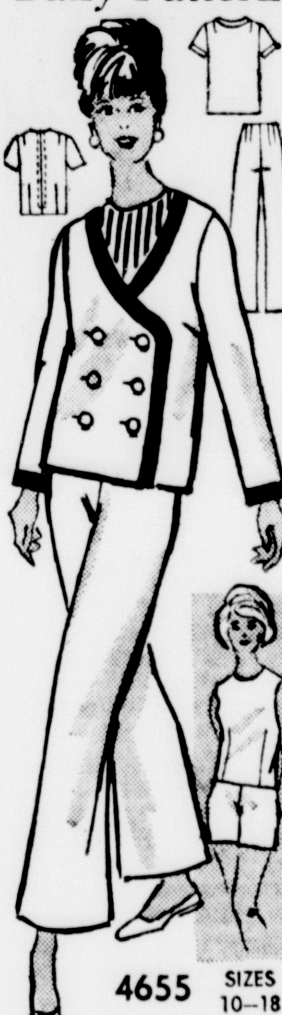

A support party traveling by truck is scheduled to meet Marquant daily and provide fresh water, iced soda pop, clothing and other supplies.

"We admire Marquant's courage," Dwight T. Warren, park naturalist said. "We have serious doubts he will succeed."

Marquant, armed with salt pills, water and a variety of foodstuffs in a back pack, is making the hike "to show Europeans there is still adventure in the States."

"It is a challenge. The sun is so hot it scorches every part of the body. You become dehydrated and your strength is sapped. But because it is a challenge, no one has ever made a

Ex-Resident Visiting Here After 560-Mile River Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moninger of Louisville, Ky., are vacationing with his sister, Mrs. W. E. Pickin of Dairy Ln., after making the trip here by river on his 27-foot inboard cruiser.

Accompanied by another boat operated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bastin, they made the trip from Louisville in four and a half days — 560 miles by water. The Bastins went on to Pittsburgh to visit friends and both boats will leave either tonight or Saturday for the return trip. Moninger is one of the former owners of the Wellsville China Co.

He said they experienced no difficulties, although they were in the heavy storm which struck Cincinnati last week. They saw the 80-mile-an-hour winds rip loose a floating restaurant with 90 persons aboard. The boat had to be caught and re-moored before it rammed into a bridge. Moninger has his craft moored at the East Liverpool Yacht Club at Chester.

In Controversy Over Safer Autos

Nader, Council 'Belt' Each Other

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader and the National Safety Council gave each other the back of their hands today on the question who's done what for safer automobiles.

Nader, crusader for "crash-worthy" cars, said the council is dominated by the auto industry, that it has never criticized a single model of automobile, not even "the outrageous dagger fins of the late 1950s."

Now that federal legislation is being passed to set safety standards for auto design, he said, "the mother hen of traffic safety can go back to its coop; the action has moved elsewhere."

Mother hen was his derisive term for the safety council.

THE COUNCIL replied that such charges are ridiculous and false. It said it gets only 4 percent of its finances from the auto industry and that Nader has never made any effort to familiarize himself with the council's record.

This record shows, it said, that the council has criticized automobiles from a safety standpoint, and that it has criticized auto advertising as well.

"In all fairness," the council said, "Mr. Nader has done fine work in focusing public attention on a great problem. But he has made mistakes which reflected unfairly on people and organizations."

The council does research and crusades for safety in many fields, on the farm, in the factory, on the highways, in the home.

It has 9,000 members, including insurance firms, banks, businesses, labor unions and individuals. Its president is Howard Pyle, former governor of Arizona.

NADER, in town Thursday to make a speech, elaborated in an interview on recent criticism of the council. The council, from its headquarters in Chicago, replied through Wayne Wille, assistant director of public relations.

Here is the gist of the argument, con and pro.

NADER

The council has never criticized a single auto manufacturer. It gets hundreds of thousands of dollars a year from the auto industry, and is now asking an $850,000 grant from the industry.

In the recent "huge outcry" about auto safety, its stand paralleled that of the industry. As late as last February, it opposed any federal legislation on auto safety standards.

On its board of directors, the people really concerned in the issues of what should be done about traffic safety are mostly those "representing the automobile industry and allied industries." The other board members are concerned about other aspects of safety and they "live and let live."

"But it doesn't matter any more, because the council is fading out of the safe automobile picture."

THE COUNCIL

Nader never tried to find out what the council has said and done on safer autos. Inquiry would have shown that it was the council which got the idea for "the GSA bill," which Nader himself has called a "stroke of legislative genius."

GSA stands for General Services Administration, the government's vast housekeeping agency. Under the bill referred to, the GSA sets safety design standards for autos bought by the federal government.

Nader in his book, "Unsafe At Any Speed," says a highway safety program proposed by a presidential committee hasn't been changed since 1946. But he is wrong. For example, in 1960 an engineering section was added and this contains recommendations, strongly backed by the safety council, for making cars safer.

A report on file with the Federal Trade Commission will show that the council strongly criticized certain auto advertising practices. Some years ago, the council objected to advertisements emphasizing horsepower and speed.

"This practice was curbed, but now it has started up again and we are unhappy about it."

As for its stand last February, the council felt that laws on the books, such as the GSA bill, would take care of the situation, if the government took full advantage of them. Safety designs in government cars would be come general.

One of the council's fears was that minimum standards would become maximums. But realizing the government did not intend to use existing laws to the full, the council switched to support of new legislation.

The council has 201 persons on its board of directors, 13 of whom are from the auto industry. It's just as ridiculous to say it is dominated by this industry as it would be to allege it is dominated by the Post Office Department, which annually buys a million dollars worth of safety posters, publications and other material from the council.

Police Radio Action Tabled

A request by Hancock County Sheriff Joseph Rodak for a police radio for a cruiser was tabled until Aug. 2 during a meeting of the county commissioners Thursday night at the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Specifications for the radio will be obtained prior to receiving bids for the equipment, it was announced.

The matter of obtaining a purchasing agent for the jail also was tabled until Aug. 2, the next regular meeting date.

The commissioners approved the purchase of a new stove for the jail at a cost not to exceed $100. It will be used to cook meals for prisoners.

Papers were signed with the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. relative to the installation of an air conditioner in the circuit courtroom, approved at a previous meeting.

George Konchar, county clerk, was authorized to have the front Courthouse steps repaired.

Bills of the Hancock County Children's Home, located near Pughtown, were approved for payment.

William C. Graham, vice president, presided in the absence of James Finley, president. Commissioner Jack Evans also attended the meeting.

The Aug. 2 meeting will be held at 10 a. m. at the Courthouse.

In Unofficial Washington Speculation

19 Captured Red Sailors Hinted As Exchange Bait

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have declined comment on unofficial speculation that 19 recently captured North Vietnamese sailors may figure in any prisoner exchange involving captive American pilots.

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman disclosed during the weekend that the United States had captured the sailors from torpedo boats involved in a Gulf of Tonkin naval engagement.

Other Communist prisoners have been turned over to South Viet Nam. But when a State Department spokesman was asked Thursday what would be done with the North Vietnamese seamen, he declined to say.

Harriman, who heads U.S. efforts in behalf of American prisoners in Viet Nam, also said in a Voice of America radio interview that efforts had fallen through to exchange a captured Viet Cong terrorist for Gustav Hertz, a U.S. aid official held by Communist guerrillas.

Hanoi has threatened to try captured American pilots as war criminals, contending the 1949 Geneva convention's prisoners of war rules do not apply to captives of the Viet Nam war.

Officials disclosed Thursday that the United States is informing the International Red Cross through diplomatic channels that it will attend either a large or small conference to discuss applying the Geneva conventions on prisoner treatment.

They said another possibility might be talks between the United States and North Viet Nam, or a three-country meeting of the United States, South and North Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon told a Chicago new conference the United States should keep Hanoi guessing about what it might do if the captured pilots are executed.

But Nixon added that "any punishment must be directed toward the leaders, who are responsible, rather than towards the people." One option, he said, might be to try North Vietnamese leaders as war criminals.

Two other Republicans, Reps. F. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts and Ogden R. Reid of New York, introduced a resolution Thursday to place Congress on record warning Hanoi that any trial of the captured pilots might dash hopes for a peaceful settlement of the war.

In other developments: —Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a group of 3,000 foreign students that Hanoi has rejected within the past month another American bid for peace talks. He gave no other details.

—In what was described as a bookkeeping maneuver, the Defense Department reclassified as captured 29 U.S. Navy airmen previously listed as missing, bringing to 63 the number of Americans officially listed as captured.

Rhodes And Reams Differ

Pollution Becomes Political Issue

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Water pollution has become a political issue in Ohio, with November general elections only months away.

In a state long faced with skyrocketing water needs and growing pollution problems, the issue has become a major one in the 1966 gubernatorial race.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced a series of anti-pollution plans and has promised to clean up the state's lakes and streams by 1970.

His opponent, Sen. Frazier Reams Jr. of Toledo, says Rhodes is not doing enough and has no plans at all. Reams has contended he does have plans and will act.

MORE THAN two million Ohioans live along Lake Erie, which a Wisconsin senator has called a 240-mile-long "chemical tank." For years, the shallow lake has received sewage and industrial wastes from all the Great Lakes States. The effect has been staggering.

Normally microscopic algae now grows in Lake Erie in strands up to 50 feet long. The algae has helped produce oxygen shortages in up to 25 percent of the lake. Blue pike production has fallen from 6,855, 1000 pounds in 1956 to 268 pounds last year.

Elsewhere, there are rivers like the Miami in Southwestern Ohio. At Dayton, it is now too polluted for recreational use. In 40 years, it will have to carry twice its present load of wastes.

Other examples can be found throughout the state in streams infected by raw or roughly filtered sewage, industrial wastes, mine drainage, silt or other pollutants. The Maumee, Cuyahoga, Mahoning and other major river basins froth with pollution problems.

To most Ohioans, pollution means poor fishing, no swimming, bad smells or an oil ring around the waterline of the family boat. Unless the water gets cleaner, it will mean much more to many Ohioans.

AT THIS CRITICAL point, Ohio needs more water than ever. In 1930, the state used 7½ billion gallons a day. It now uses 12 billion. It will need twice that much at the turn of the century.

The state's daily water usage is twice the national average. Its industries use more than those in any other state.

In the summer, Ohio uses 45 million gallons a day just to water its golf courses.

Lake Erie and the Ohio River could provide 15 times as much water as the state now uses — if pollution can be controlled and the necessary supply lines built.

The problem is almost more clear cut than the state's mechanisms for solving it. No less than five state departments (including 19 separate agencies), four regional and interstate groups and an uncounted number of local agencies have responsibilities in the field.

Rhodes has ordered an attack on the problems of coordination to make these efforts more effective.

Last December, Rhodes told the Ohio Water Commission to produce a comprehensive water management program by the end of the year.

THE MONUMENTAL task, which the commission passed on to its 115-member advisory council last month, called for preparation of: —A plan to preserve, develop and control the state's water. —A plan to utilize all available federal, state and local sources of money and manpower. —A way to determine water quality standards for Ohio lakes and streams. —Legislation to set up a powerful central water authority and to put the group's other recommendations into effect.

First reports are due Sept. 9 and final reports are to reach the governor's desk about a month after November elections.

In June, the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board set minimum quality standards for the state's major streams. A few days later, Rhodes announced a $1 billion program to improve municipal and industrial waste treatment facilities enough to meet the standards by 1970. The cities and industries are to foot the bills.

The state has also scheduled hearings to consider standards for its interstate waters. The 1965 Federal Water Quality Control Act says such standards must be set by July, 1967.

Rhodes' latest plan is to put anti-pollution devices into the streams themselves, with the murky lower Cuyahoga River as a special target.

REAMS meanwhile, has called for establishment of regional agencies with funds and power to watch over entire drainage areas of separate river basins.

The Toledo Democrat says the pollution battle should be financed like major highway projects, half federal, one-fourth state and one-fourth local.

Reams says Rhodes underestimates the dangers of phosphate pollutants, a small amount of which can trigger algae blooms like those in Lake Erie. Fertilizers and sewers are their major sources. Accordingly, Reams says cities must be helped to build separate storm and sanitary sewers where needed.

He says the state should help start work now on these facilities, which will cost millions and take years to complete.

While planners plan on both sides of the political fence, the problem mounts — the state water commission says Ohioans pour four billion gallons of unusable waste into their lakes and streams each day.

Hearing On Saturday Set In Driving Case

A Midland woman was cited for drunk driving following an accident at 3:50 a. m. today in Wellsville.

Police said a car operated by Laura R. Hanna of 708 Pennsylvania Ave., Midland, struck a parked car owned by Richard Jones of 209 10th St., Wellsville, at 10th and Main Sts.

She was being held in jail today in lieu of bond and is scheduled to receive a hearing for driving while under the influence of alcohol Saturday morning before Mayor William Daugherty.

Major Set To Begin Air Academy Duties

WEIRTON — Maj. Norman D. Ferrari Jr., Air Force Academy liaison officer, who resides here, departed today for a short tour of active duty at the academy, near Colorado Springs, Colo.

Maj. Ferrari has been assigned to the academy since January 1960, during which time he has interviewed hundreds of prospects, 14 of whom have entered the academy. Maj. Ferrari has visited over 30 schools per year in the Weirton - Steubenville - East Liverpool area in order to inform prospects about the academy program.

Poles Go Up In Smoke In $500,000 Blaze

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — About a half-million dollars' damage mostly to some 7,000 stacked telephone poles that burned like giant matchsticks, resulted from a fire here that didn't miss the Kenyon College airport hangar and a grain elevator by much.

Officials theorized that the fire Thursday, at the Joslyn Manufacturing Co., may have started in a diesel-operated crane.

The big machine, valued at more than $50,000 was destroyed along with Joslyn's stock of wooden poles. Soaked with creosote, the poles burned on into the night after igniting in the afternoon.

The firm is a major supplier of railroad ties, which were saved.

The worn edges on pockets, cuffs and buttonholes on an otherwise good black woolen coat or dress may be covered with black silk braid to give the garment longer life.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a married woman, 40, who has a terrible fear I cannot discuss with anyone. I am so terrified of seeing a dead person it has cast a cloud over my whole life.

I have a recurring "nightmare" (often during the day) that my husband will die in the middle of the night and that I will be alone in the house with him.

Last week a friend of mine lost her husband. I went to call on her and although I knew the man had died in the hospital, I was petrified when I had to go upstairs to the bathroom. I can't describe the sense of panic.

I am not afraid of death. I rarely think about death in terms of myself, but this fear of being with a dead person is agony. Please tell me how to conquer it. A psychiatrist is out of the question. We cannot afford it. — CANADIAN READER.

Dear Reader: You have two problems — and the first is preventing you from solving the second. Your feeling of shame over the thing you fear is as irrational as the fear itself.

You don't need a psychiatrist's ear, but you do need someone's. I suggest you talk this out with your husband in spite of your self-consciousness. Delve back into your childhood and try to recall every dead person you've ever seen.

When you were very young, you were frightened by something or someone connected with a dead person. That early experience is buried deep in your subconscious. You must dig it out, ventilate it and dispose of it.

Married Too Young

Dear Ann Landers: It's very hard to get a divorce up here in Canada. One of us is going to have to commit adultery and I guess it will have to be me. My wife and I got married very young. I was 17. As you can guess, there was a baby on the way. I had a lot of false pride and thought I was doing the right thing, but I was wrong.

My wife and I like each other but we don't love each other. After 13 years we are bored. We now have three children and there is no happiness in our home. We just tolerate each other. Any advice? — FATHER

WHILE STILL A CHILD

Dear Father: Yes, stay at home where you belong. Of course you married too young, but you now have responsibilities that heavily outweigh your right to jolly it up. There are worse things than boredom, Buddy. And if you leave your family, you'll find out what they are.

A Favor For Three?

Dear Ann Landers: This letter will be an unusual one. Most women want to know how to get a man. I want to know how to get rid of one.

I met Mr. Nondescript on a sightseeing bus tour during my vacation. He asked if he could drop me a line from time to time. I said, "Yes" because I didn't want to hurt his feelings. He has telephoned me several times and sent flowers on three occasions. I feel very guilty because he's a nice person but I have no interest in him. Advise please. — GUILTY.

Dear Guiltless: Fix Mr. Nondescript up with someone who might like him. You could be doing THREE people a big favor.

Confidentially

To Weary Mom: Since the doctor has ruled out all physical problems, the bed wetting is caused by an emotional problem. Your child needs professional help. Get going and stop calling these nightly occurrences "little accidents."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

40 Complete Midland Pool Swim Course

Forty youths aged 16 to 18 passed written and water tests and received Red Cross senior lifesaving certificates at Veterans Memorial Pool in Midland last week, Clarence Grimm, water safety instructor, has announced.

In 1958, 20 in the senior division received certificates, so this year's class was the largest to date, originally numbering 47, but reduced to 40 after seven dropped out.

Last Wednesday, Melvin Whittington, safety engineer of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., screened the film, "The Breath of Life," a movie showing the mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration. Grimm said he began his safety classes in 1958 — the year this method was pioneered.

A 20-question opinion quiz was given members, with most expressing their reason for taking the course as "to know what to do when something happens."

The textbook used was "Life-saving and Water Safety."

Forty-two between the ages of 12 and 15 are taking the junior life-saving course this week at the pool, Grimm said. Fifteen boys and 27 girls are enrolled. Eight others dropped out on Wednesday. The written test will be given Friday, with the water test scheduled for Saturday.

Grimm said the unusual interest shown this year probably stems from the recent near-drowning at the pool.

Grimm, Amy Wilson, Bill Komara and Christine Tepovich are taking the water safety instructor's course this week and next at the Heinrich Swimming Pool in Beaver Falls. They expect to graduate Tuesday after 15 hours of instruction.

Mrs. Frances Baker of Bridgewater, Beaver County chairman of water safety and an instructor-trainer, is teaching the course.

Local Musicians To Appear At Inn In Pennsylvania

Two vocalists and a pianist widely known in area music circles have been engaged for performances at The Forest Inn at Eagles Mere Park, Pa.

Ernest Lowe and Mrs. John W. Brown will present solos and duets for the evening concerts on Tuesday and Friday of next week. Mrs. Lowe will be accompanist and offer piano solos.

Lowe and Mrs. Brown are soloists with the Crucible Steel Chorus and the Valley Oratorio Singers.

Mrs. Brown, of Williams Ave., is soloist at the First United Presbyterian Church and was former choir director at the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church.

Lowe serves as choir director of the First Methodist Church of Wellsville and is soloist at Congregation Beth Shalom. His wife is organist at both of these places.

The couple, who reside on Wedgewood Ave., will be accompanied by their son, Geoffrey, 16, and daughter, Deborah, 11, for the week's vacation.

Jack N. Alpern, local resident, is social director for the park.

Three Given Terms For Attack, Robbery

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two men and a teen-ager from Pittsburgh have been sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in prison in the rape-robbery of a high school girl and the beating of her boy friend.

Clarence W. Holland Jr., 21, Robert Day, 21, and Farouk Deen, 17, pleaded guilty to rape, aggravated assault and battery, robbery and auto theft prior to sentencing Thursday by Judge J. Frank Graff in Allegheny County Court.

The couple was attacked as they sat in a car in Highland Park April 2.

$1,590,420 Distribution Set In Real Estate Taxes

LISBON — Columbiana County school districts, communities and townships will share an advance of $1,590,420 from real estate taxes for the last half of 1965. The collection closed July 9.

County Auditor Kenneth Bell said his office is preparing the August settlement checks today and will mail them Saturday.

School districts will receive $1,340,540; corporations, $151,710; townships, $96,720, and Homeworth fire district, $1,450. Advances of $100,000 each were made the last of June to East Liverpool and Salem school districts, Bell said, and are not included in the following breakdown:

Schools — Alliance, $1,380; Beaver Local, $104,620; Columbiana, $80,680; East Liverpool, $270,510; East Palestine, $103,570; Fairfield — Waterford, $73,180; Leetonia, $55,870; Lisbon, $91,810; Minerva, $31,890; Salem, $231,110; Southern, $67,310; United, $81,670; Wellsville, $75,590; and West Branch, $71,350. Corporations — Columbiana, $11,620; East Liverpool, $63,450; East Palestine, $7,480; Hanover, $690; Leetonia, $7,700; Lisbon, $9,260; New Waterford, $1,720; Rogers, $310; Salem, $32,820; Salineville, $1,440; Summitville, $400; Washingtonville, $620; and Wellsville, $14,200. Townships — Butler, $6,080; Center, $5,260; Elkrun, $1,360; Fairfield, $5,900; Franklin, $3,080; Hanover, $6,840; Knox, $9,890; Liverpool, $8,610; Madison,

Warren Fire Captain Dies In 20-Foot Fall

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Warren Fire Capt. John D. Englehardt, 49, is dead as a result of an off-duty accident Thursday at the Warren Fire Equipment Co. in nearby Niles.

Englehardt, a 20-year veteran of the department, was injured fatally in a 20-foot fall from a roof where he was inspecting fire equipment, authorities reported.

Weapons Charge Brings 1-3 Years

Norman Buzzard, 27, of Grims Bridge, R.D. 1, pleaded guilty Wednesday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon — a .22-caliber pistol.

Judge Joel H. Sharp sentenced him to 1 to 3 years in Ohio Penitentiary after refusing "in view of the defendant's record," to grant leniency requested by G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool, court-appointed counsel.

East Liverpool police arrested Buzzard April 27. At a preliminary hearing May 4 in Municipal Court, he asked to be bound over to the Grand Jury. He decided not to wait for the September Grand Jury and pleaded guilty Wednesday to information in the prosecutor's file.

Cong Forces Infiltrate Demilitarized Border

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials said today there is reason to believe North Vietnamese troops have been moving across the demilitarized border into South Viet Nam because monsoon rains are hindering travel over the main infiltration route through Laos.

Until recent months, sources said, provable penetration by the Communists across the demilitarized zone was slight, although a larger infiltration that way was suspected.

The six-mile-wide zone along the 17th Parallel was established by the 1954 Geneva conference that partitioned North and South Viet Nam.

Starting in May, the sources said, evidence began to accumulate that infiltration across and around the end of the zone was becoming considerable.

The current estimate is that three Communist regiments — some 4,500 men — are in the general area below the demilitarized zone. Two of these are said to be North Vietnamese and one Viet Cong.

In addition, there are possibly two more North Vietnamese regiments in that mountainous region. Such a force would total about 3,000 regulars.

The week-long campaign by a mixed force of about 10,000 U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops has been aimed at spoiling any major initiative by the Communist forces centered in this area.

Such spoiling operations are now basic U.S. tactics. Officials credit their effectiveness with bringing what Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has called military gains.

The normal enemy strategy is to move stealthily into areas with large numbers of troops and then to strike with surprise against weaker opposing forces.

There were suggestions a year or more ago that the Communists might try to hit the Da Nang Marine, Air Force and Navy complex in a bid to inflict a major defeat on the Americans, as the Viet Minh did against the French at Dien Bien Phu in 1954.

But with more than 50,000 Marines in position to defend Da Nang, any such Communist offensive move now is considered remote.

Hearing Slated In Disturbance

A 17-year-old East Liverpool youth is scheduled for a Juvenile Court hearing Aug. 4 as the result of a disturbance Wednesday night at the dance barn at Guilford Lake.

The Substation area youth was one of several ordered to leave after a fight on the dance floor about 11.

Sheriff's Deputies Robert Beresford and James (Ronnie) Gause said there were approximately 600 young people at the time. They worked their way through the crowd and found the young men wrestling and fighting.

The officers ordered the youths to get in their cars and leave. Thirty minutes later while Beresford and Gause were directing traffic after the dance they saw the East Liverpool youth with a group outside the barn.

Deputies said he ignored their order to leave quietly and grew violent when told to obey or go to jail. He shoved Beresford and broke away from Gause's hold.

He spent the night in detention at the County Jail. Taken before Judge Louis Tobin yesterday, he contradicted the officers' charges of fighting, drinking and resisting arrest. His mother posted bond for his release.

Clothes made from felt should always be drycleaned and never washed.

Club's Functions Are Outlined At Meeting Of Board

COLUMBIANA — Keith McKinney, president of the Columbiana County Young Democrats, outlined the functions of the newly-formed club at a meeting of the executive board Wednesday night at the Kimberly Recreation Center here.

"Our policy is to perform activities that will facilitate the election of all Democratic candidates for public office and to provide an open forum for discussion of issues concerning government and politics," he declared.

"The club will not endorse a new candidate for public office prior to his nomination," he added.

A discussion was held on candidates for various offices in the county, with the officers going on record as supporting all Democratic candidates.

McKinney said a meeting of the club will be held Aug. 3 at 8 p. m. at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. offices on W. 6th St. in East Liverpool.

A movie, "1,000 Days With The Late JFK," will be screened, music will be provided and refreshments served.

All Democrats 18 and over are invited to attend.

7 Pittsburgh Doctors Ask $18,708 In Suit

PITTSBURGH — Seven Pittsburgh doctors filed suit in Allegheny County Court Thursday against the county for $18,708 in fees for autopsies performed at the direction of Coroner William R. Hunt.

County Solicitor Maurice Louik told Hunt earlier the autopsies were unauthorized because there were no inquests held in the cases involved.

Hit Batsman Sinks Bucs

Amazin' Mets Scalp Giants, 14-3, For 6th Straight Win

By RON RAPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

As oratory, it may not rank with the declamations of Winston Churchill, say, or Casey Stengel, but future baseball historians may well regard Westrum's statement as marking a critical turning point in the history of the New York Mets.

The Mets' manager was smiling beneficently at his charges Thursday as they celebrated their 143 victory over San Francisco and their six-game win streak, longest in the history of the club.

"If we continue at this pace," Westrum philosophized, "we'll be up there at the end of this month."

Westrum did not specify exactly where "up there" was, but he made his point. Never in their five-year existence, have the Mets been able to consider any problem more pressing than escaping last place.

But now, more than 10 games removed from the cellar, the Mets can begin to think the unthinkable. Eighth place perhaps — only a half-game away. Or would you believe seventh? It's just two games ahead.

The Mets' win streak began with two doubleheader triumphs over Houston and now has included two in a row over the Giants, who have lost seven of their last nine games and are within a game of first place only because of Los Angeles' derailing victory over the Pirates, 4-3.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago beat Cincinnati 6-1, St. Louis outslugged Atlanta 7-4 and Houston nudged Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the American League, Boston beat California 7-3, New York edged Kansas City in 10 innings 4-3, Chicago beat Cleveland 7-2, Minnesota took Washington 1-0 and Baltimore beat Detroit 6-4.

"I'm proud, very proud," said Westrum of his club's win streak. "I thought about it before the game." And winning pitcher Dennis Ribant summed up the current mood of the club succinctly: "We feel we can win now."

Ed Kranepool and Jerry Grote slammed three-run homers in the Mets' pasting of the Giants and Cleon Jones contributed a bases-empty shot.

The Dodgers and Pirates engaged in an old-time melodrama on the Coast, with Los Angeles finally winning in the 10th when reliever Pete Mikkelsen hit John Kennedy with a pitch after he had purposely walked

John Roseboro to load the bases.

The Pirates had gone ahead in their half of the inning on a pinch hit homer by Bob Bailey. Before that, the Dodgers had tied the game in the bottom of the ninth and before that the Pirates went ahead with two runs in the eighth.

Ernie Banks hit a two-run triple and Curt Simmons pitched a three-hitter as the Cubs ended a four-game losing streak. Don Kessinger had a three-run triple in the eighth to give Chicago more than enough insurance.

Curt Flood hit a three-run homer and Charley Smith and Orlando Cepeda added solo jobs, helping St. Louis to its victory. All the homers came in the fifth inning and broke what had been a scoreless tie. Hank Aaron had his 28th homer, most in the majors, for the Braves.

Mike Cuellar saved a victory for Dave Giusti and Houston, coming in to relieve with two on and one out in the eighth inning and getting the Phillies out without a run. The Astros got all their runs in the third on five hits.

Buckpasser, Buffle Picked In Handicap

By The Associated Press

The Brooklyn Handicap, rich in turf lore with many of the sport's greatest on its list of winners, will have its 78th running Saturday at Aqueduct with a pair of young upstarts—Buckpasser and Buffle—threatening to turn the 1-mile $100,000-added race into a two-horse duel.

Only nine 3-year-olds have won the race since its inception in 1887. The last one was The Chief, who showed older horses the way home in 1938 under the light weight of 105 pounds.

Ogden Phipps' Buckpasser, No. 1 candidate for the 3-year-old title after winning the 2-year-old crown last year, will be the top weight under 120 pounds. Buffle, from Robert Kleburg's King Ranch, gets in with 113. Other likely starters include the Meadowbrook Farm's Tio Viejo, 113; Harry F. Guggenheim's Pluck, 112, and Greentree Stable's Paoluccio, 107.

Buckpasser, who will be ridden by Braulio Baeza, gave Buffle 12 pounds and beat him by almost a length in the 1 1/4 miles of the Leonard Richards at Delaware Park. He followed up the triumph with a world record mile clocking of 1:32 3/5 in the Arlington Classic and victory in the Chicagoan at Arlington Park.

Buffle, who probably will be ridden by Ron Turcotte, whipped older horses under 110 pounds in the Suburban July 4, but wasn't able to handle rivals of his own age as Mr. Right won the Dwyer last Saturday at Aqueduct.

Midland Legion To Open Final Playoff Set Monday

Midland Post 481 will await the outcome of today's Aliquippa-Baden game before knowing its opponent in the final series of the Beaver County Legion League.

Midland wrapped up the Western Division title Wednesday with a 21-4 rout of Highland. Post 481 took two straight games from the Highland nine, which was the champion of the league.

Midland will open the final playoff series Monday at Crucible Field meeting the winner of today's Aliquippa-Baden contest.

Two grand slam home runs by Clarence Andrews and Bernie Mraovic featured a 17-hit attack for Midland. Post 481 blew the game wide open in the third inning to put the contest out of reach.

Ray Hendershot was the winning hurler and scattered six hits as Highland scored all of its runs in the fourth inning.

Florists Win 1st Game In Colt Playoff

Riverview took the edge in its playoff series with the Dentists by scoring a 7-2 victory in the opener of the best two out of three Colt series.

Riverview held a 7-0 lead before the Dentists scored twice in the fifth inning.

Mike Caruso pitched a neat three-hitter, fanned five batters and did not walk a man.

Cunningham's three hits and a pair of doubles by Chambers paced Riverview's 13-hit attack. Howell was the losing pitcher.

Only 5 Shoot Under Par At Akron

By JOE MOOSHL Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Slammin' Sammy Snead, the 54-year-old West Virginian, and Al Geiberger, a serious and studious 28-year-old from California, are threatening to upset the dopsters in the PGA's Golden Anniversary Golf Tournament.

To the surprise of everyone, including themselves, the two played with deadly accuracy Thursday to share the first-round lead with two-under-par 68s.

One stroke behind were Doug Sanders, Julius Boros and Don January, while Jack Cupit was the only player in the field of 185 to match the Firestone Country Club course par 35-35—70 for the 7,180-yard layout.

Favorites Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer stumbled around with 75s, and duplicating shabby performances in today's second round might find them failing to make the cut. Defending champion Dave Marr also had a 75.

Snead, who the day before the tournament complained of aches and pains and was afraid he wouldn't make the 36-hole cut, laughed and joked about his fantastic round. But there was nothing funny about his game.

He bagged five birdies and might have held the undisputed lead had he canned an eight-foot putt on the 18th hole after working his way around a tree and out of a trap.

"The putt was so bad," said Snead, "that I was ashamed to pick up the ball. I felt like a monkey with a football who didn't know where to put it."

Geiberger, unlike Snead who has three PGA titles in the long list of championships he had captured, never has won a major crown.

But the skinny man, who carries sandwiches in his golf bag to restore his energy, clicked at Firestone last year when he won the American Golf Classic while munching peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

"I had a sandwich in my bag," laughed Geiberger who started his round with three straight birdies and could nail only one more the rest of the day, "but I never got around to eating it. I had a cheese sandwich before I started and that proved to be enough."

Among the first round leaders, only Sanders, the No. 2 leading money winner behind Billy Casper this year, was considered a threat to capture the elusive title.

Casper, who won the National Open in a playoff against Palmer in San Francisco last month, was in a large group tied for sixth place with 73s.

Five players managed one-over-par 71s. They were Tommy Aaron, Jack Fleck, Larry Beck, Jim Ferrier and Walter Inman Jr.

Grouped at 72 were George Knudson, Bob Keller, Babe Lichardus, Dan Sikes Jr., and Al Mengert.

Robinson Blasts 2, Orioles Margin 11 1/2

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

The way things had been going for him, Jim Merritt wasn't the most likely candidate for a line in the American League record book.

But Merritt's in the book today and he earned his way there with a brilliant three-hitter that gave the Minnesota Twins a 1-0 victory over Washington Thursday night.

Merritt, who had been strafed for seven home runs in his last three starts and showed a 1-8 record for the season, struck out 12 Senators including seven in a row over one stretch.

The string of strikeouts tied the American League record held by four other pitchers. And it marked the third time the record has been matched in Washington's D.C. Stadium this season.

"The way I've been going," Merritt said later, "I'm just happy for the victory. No, I had no idea I was near any record. I was just trying to get them out."

Merritt, who has been having trouble getting past the first few innings this season, pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the first. Then, after Ken McMullen doubled to open the third, he started his strikeout spree.

The record, originally set by Ryne Duren and matched last year by Detroit's Denny McLain, had been tied by Phil Ortega and Pete Richert of the Senators, this season.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday, Frank Robinson hammered a pair of home runs as Baltimore downed Detroit 6-4. Boston escaped the cellar with a 7-3 victory over California. New York edged Kansas City 4-3 in 11 innings and Chicago defeated Cleveland 7-2.

In the National League, New York battered San Francisco 14-3, Chicago whipped Cincinnati 6-1, Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2, St. Louis downed Atlanta 7-4 and Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 4-3 in 10 innings.

After McMullen's hit, Merritt retired the last 21 batters he faced for his first complete game in the majors. He was 5-4, mostly in relief, with the Twins last year.

Minnesota's only run came in the ninth inning when Don Mincher doubled, moved to third on an infield out and came home on Jim Hannan's wild pitch.

Robinson's two homers gave him four in the last three games, 27 for the season and 351 for his major league career. The slugging Baltimore outfielder also had two other hits and drove in three runs as the rampaging Orioles opened their lead to 11 1/2 games.

The victory completed a sweep of the Tigers by the Orioles, who walloped Detroit pitching for 47 hits in the three games.

Rico Petrocelli delivered a bases-loaded single in the seventh inning, breaking a 3-3 tie and lifting the Red Sox over California. The victory moved Boston past Washington into ninth place.

Tony Conigliaro tagged a two-run homer for the Red Sox.

Elston Howard tripled and Jake Gibbs singled the winning run home as the Yankees won their sixth straight, beating Kansas City in 11 innings.

Gibbs' throwing error had helped the Athletics tie the score in the ninth inning.

John Buzhardt pitched a six-hitter and Floyd Robinson hit a two-run homer as Chicago won its third straight over Cleveland.

Fred Whitfield and Chuck Hinton belted ninth-inning homers, depriving Buzhardt of his fourth shutout of the season.

Pickin, Beatty Win Ladies Golf Contest At Club

Mrs. William Pickin fired low gross of 49-47-96 and Mrs. D. E. Beatty finished six up in the ladies match play against partner contest Wednesday at the Country Club.

Mrs. Robert Patterson won the putting in the first division with 31.

In the second division, Mrs. Robert Bowersock turned in low gross of 57 and Mrs. Richard Heddlston was one up to take low net. The putting was won by Mrs. H. A. Smith with 15.

AAU Meet Canceled By Cleveland Rioting

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Junior AAU Men's U.S. Track and Field Championships which were scheduled here Saturday have been called off because of this city's race riots.

Officials said Thursday athletes slated to participate in the event at John Adams Field would have been required to travel through areas which have been hit by racial violence since Monday night.

No new date was set for the one-day event in which 208 athletes had entered.

Renewal Set Between Top Race Drivers

Herb Scott of Wexford, Pa. and Buddy O'Connor of Greenfield, current point leader in the P.R.A. standings, will renew the feud that erupted last Saturday night at South Park Speedway, that lead to both drivers being fined for rough driving tactics.

Both Scott and O'Connor will be in the line-up for tonight's races as the Greater Pittsburgh Speedway presents the first 50-lap double point championship race of the 1966 season for the late model stock cars.

Of course both Scott and O'Connor will have their hands full to hold off the challenge of the hard running Bob Wearing of Evans City. Wearing has won two feature events at the Clinton, Pa. oval and is definitely a real challenger for the No. 1 position in the point standings and the 1966 Championship.

Other top drivers in the racing line - up include Joe Mihalic of Murrysville, Pa., Don Luffy of Bethel Park, Don Dibert of Castle Shannon, and Norm Benning of Braddock, Pa.

Other top drivers entered include Tom Gale, Dave Richards, Lou Sturchio, Danny O'chinnick, Jim Irvine, and Frank Choura.

Time trials will get under way at 7:30 p.m. with racing on the big 10 - event program featuring the late model stocks and the slam - bang amateur division, at 8:30 p.m.

TST Tops Tri-State

T.S. & T. defeated Tri-State 10-8 to win the playoff title in the Minor League. Gerald Ward was the winning pitcher with Randy Quinn the loser.

Whittington Bats, Pitches Newell To 10-1 Victory

Craig Whittington pitched and batted Newell to a 10-1 victory over Hookstown in a South Side Hot Stove Senior Division game Thursday.

Whittington scattered six hits and fanned 12 batters and collected a triple and two doubles to pace his team at the plate. Jerry Enochs had a double and two singles for the winners. Larry Anderson went three for three in the losing cause.

Jockey Suspended

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Jacinto Vasquez, the leading jockey at the meeting, drew a five-day suspension at Delaware Park Thursday costing him the ride on First Feather in Saturday's $50,000 Delaware Oaks.

Schayes Appointed Director Of Officials

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association set a brisk pace in completing its one-day meeting with only one major development, the naming of Dolph Schayes as supervisor of officials.

A league spokesman said the circuit's board of governors also discussed next season's schedule during the four-hour meeting, but announced only Schayes' appointment.

Schayes, a star player for 16 years and former coach of the Philadelphia 76ers, succeeds Sid Borgia, who held the post for five years. Borgia retired to devote more time to a private business.

The general aviation fleet in the nation exceeds 90,000 planes. Sales last year totaled nearly $500 million.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Jim Merritt, Twins, allowed just three hits, struck out 12 including seven in a row, and retired the last 21 consecutive batters as Minnesota nipped Washington 1-0.

BATTING—Frank Robinson, Orioles, smashed four hits including his 26th and 27th home runs and drove in three runs as Baltimore ripped Detroit 6-4.

One of the nation's smallest urban renewal projects is a four-tenths of an acre site in York, Pa., where the preservation of two historical buildings is planned.

Price Boosts Expected For Dairy Goods

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Old Bossie may be doing her fair share in supplying Ohio with milk, but partly because the cows can't keep up with the demand, price increases for dairy products are expected soon.

Ohio's milk supply "is as short now as I've ever seen it," said Dr. Elmer Baumer, a professor of agricultural economics at Ohio State University, after major milk producing cooperatives announced plans to raise again the prices they charge for raw milk.

Increases in costs of raw milk to dairies generally are reflected in higher retail costs, at least for some products.

Much of Ohio had a price increase, for both raw milk and finished products. July 1, Milk producers said Thursday they would increase raw milk charges Aug. 1, by as much as 75 cents per hundred pounds (46 2/3 quarts of milk) in the Cleveland and Youngstown areas. Lesser raw milk price boosts were announced in other areas, including northwestern and central Ohio.

In the Toledo area, some reports forecast retail milk price increases of as much as two cents a quart throughout the Great Lakes region which includes northern Ohio.

Some dairy industry people indicated any increases in raw milk costs might be absorbed by selective price increases — raising retail prices on only a few of the 100 or more different milk items.

Baumer said the upward trend of both raw milk and retail milk prices is due to a tightening of Ohio's milk supply. Ohio "is losing dairy farms at a very, very rapid rate," he said, and while milk production per cow has increased it has not offset the drop in the number of cows producing.

Competition among dairies and retail outlets could help to keep prices to consumers stable, at least for a time. Virtually all the Ohio-produced milk is sold to dairies through the Producers' Marketing Associations which announced raw milk increases.

Dairy Princess Crown Bestowed In Pennsylvania

YORK, Pa. — Eighteen-year-old Carol Stephens, a dark-eyed brunette from Fayette County, is the 1966 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess.

Carol, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Stephens of Belle Vernon R. D. 3, won the title in the state finals Thursday night.

Runner-up is Carol Ann Hess, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Hess Jr. of Strasburg R.D. 1, Lancaster County.

Sally Evans, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Evans, Ebensburg R.D. 2, Cambria County, was elected "Miss Congeniality" by the other contestants.

More than 100 girls, all daughters of dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, entered the 11th annual contest.

Philadelphia Lawyer Directs Shafer Drive

HARRISBURG — Robert L. Kunzig, a Philadelphia lawyer, will manage Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer's Republican campaign for governor.

Shafer announced Kunzig's appointment Thursday. Kunzig, 47, also managed Shafer's primary campaign.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, July 22, the 203rd day of 1966. There are 162 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history—
On this date in 1812, the Duke of Wellington defeated the French at the battle of Salamanca in Spain.
On this date:
In 1798, Napoleon captured the Egyptian city of Cairo.
In 1930, President Herbert Hoover signed the London Naval Reduction Treaty.
In 1933, aviator Wiley Post completed the first solo flight around the world.
In 1934, public enemy John party.

Dillinger was shot to death by G-men in Chicago.
In 1943, American troops captured Palermo, the capital of Sicily.
Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the presidents of 18 other Western Hemisphere republics signed a Panama Declaration, outlining the political and economic philosophies of American states.
Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy decided on a step-by-step plan to increase the political, economic and military strength of the NATO alliance.
One year ago—Former British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home resigned as leader of the British Conservative

Junior Editors Quiz on CONSERVATION

QUESTION: How can young people help with conservation?

ANSWER: Conservation means taking care of America's natural resources, its water power, soil, forests, wild life, so that these may be used and enjoyed by all of us. All of you can help in this tremendously important movement. We have illustrated four ways in which the Boy Scouts of America suggest young people can help preserve this country's natural beauty and its resources. (1) Keep things clean when outdoors. Don't litter. Keep trash out of water, woods, streets, put it in garbage cans. (2) Be extremely careful with fire—never leave a camp fire unless you are positive it is out. (3) Be careful not to damage property. Use consideration. (4) Get in on the movement to renew our woodlands, which means, generally, to become conservation-minded and look for ways in which you can help. Planting trees is only one these. Helping birds, which are extremely useful to us because they keep down insects, is another useful thing and is a lot of fun. You could put up some bird-feeding stations.

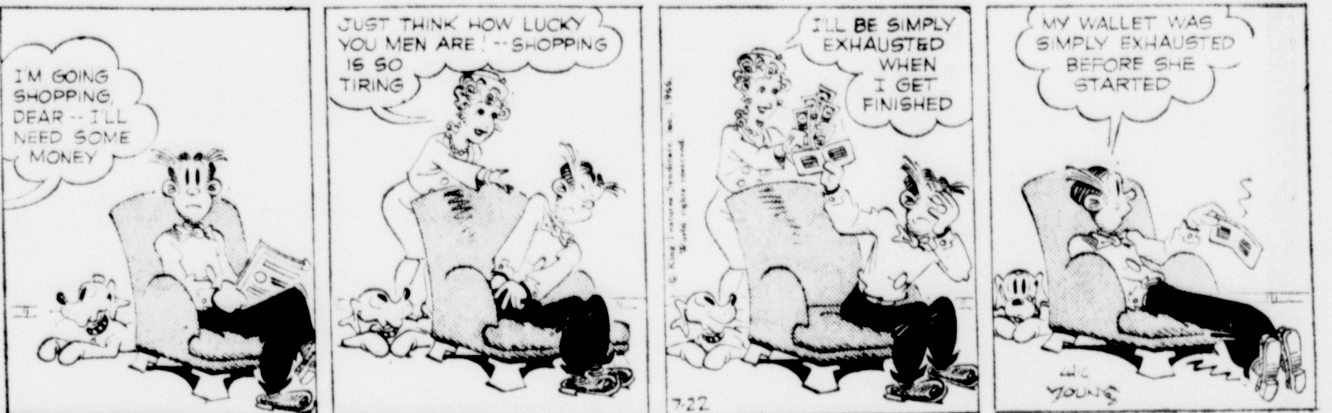

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up an article on birds in an encyclopedia and you will probably find details about how to build bird baths and feeding stations.

Barbara McGrath of Libertyville, Ill., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review
